The Trafficking Victims Protection Act

And I Think that's an Area Where There Needs To Be a Focus Place by the International Community and Calling on the Cuban Government To Allow the International Committee of the Red Cross Which Is a Nonpartisan Entity To Have Access to those Prisons To See What the Conditions To See How the Prisoners Are Being Treated with Regards to Tier 3 I Think that It's Important To Recall that When Cuba Was Redesignated Tier 2 Experts in the Anti-Slavery Movement Came Out and Denounced It at the Times of Politicization of the Process So I Think Returning Cuba to Tier 3 Is the Correct Thing To Do because It Reflects the Accurate Situation on the Ground Thank You if I Can Add a Little Bit on on the Human Rights Situations in Prisons I Mean in General the Situation Is Very Horrible but It's Particularly Horrible for Political Prisoners and I Would Like To Mention as Well the Case of the Mr Eduardo Card Ed Who Was Brutally Beaten When He Was Detained

So Now Cubans CanNot Get in the Same Way That They Have To Go to a Third Country To Get Visas To Be Able To Visit the Us They'Re Having To Do the Same with Canada They Definitely Step Back and Also I Wanted To Ask You about Access to Information Now for Example if You Go to China You Can't Get on Facebook Has that Improved in Cuba At All I Think in in that Regards He Has There's some Slight Improvement There Is Internet There's Cell Phones and There's Access to Facebook There Is Pro Ds That's Probably One of the Most Critical Opportunities To Promote Access to Information a Free Flow of Information in Cuba

I Would Add One Thing That on July 4th They Passed a New Decree Decree 68 Which Now Will Prohibit Cuban Citizens from Running Web Sites Hosted outside of the Country Which Was One of the Ways They'Re Able To Get Uncensored Information Produced from Inside and Then Reflected Back into the Island so It Looks like that Opening May Be Closing Thank You Congressman Third Your Home Thank You Mr Chairman Appreciate You Gentlemen Being Here Can You Describe the Impact of Restriction on Basic Human Rights over Many Generations Has Had on the Broader Cuban Population

I Just Like To Add that Internet Is a Critical Piece in the In in in the in the Bill and of the System of Repression and Also Open in in Cuba and in Terms of like It Empowers People Directly and in Terms of Communications Helping Expand Is Access Expand Its Being Out to of Surveillance and Controlled by the State Can Be a Critical Piece in Terms of Fostering Development of all Kinds Including Freedom of the Press Okay I Just Like To Mention that as a Lawyer I Mean There Has To Be a Lot of a Lot of Amendments

And We Know that the Chinese Have Already Barred Facebook and and some of the in Youtube and So these Other Platforms in China so I Wouldn't Be Surprised To See that Also Taking Place in Cuba but I Think It Is Important To Point Out that Cuba Remains a Communist Regime It Doesn't Respect Private Property Rights in Addition to Cubans Being Still Expropriated Today by the Regime When They Do-Well We Also Find a Number of Western Businessmen Who When the Government Couldn't Pay Their Bills the Way They Saw the Promise To Lock Them Up Businessmen from Canada And I Think You Could See that with the Case of Eduardo Card Debt and and Others that When that Precautionary Measure When that Light Is Focused in on that Prisoner They Changed Their Behavior Cuba Does Take the Un Human Rights Council Very Seriously They Put a Lot of Resources To Put a Big Dog-and-Pony Show during the Universal Periodic Review They Try To Do Everything Possible To Block Activists from Addressing It There Was a Meeting Recently on Un Commission on Un Committee on Race Where They Blocked the Afro-Cuban Abyss from Attending and at the Same Time Claimed during that Meeting that There Was no Racism in Cuba
