The Apothecary's Assistant

When destiny calls, you can run, or stand and fight for what you've always wanted. Either way you'll have no choice but to change. Mrs. Ava Southerly, apothecary assistant and widow, lives in fear. She's become an expert at hiding to keep second sight visions at bay. In the year 1885, such things as witches surely don't exist anymore, regardless of her ancestry. If she doesn't emotionally engage her heart, those otherworldly powers will stay dormant and the people she cares for won't be hurt, but she longs for acceptance and romance. Douglas Wallace, an American doctor and descendant of a Scottish witch hunter, is in London to deliver a series of lectures on new medical advancements and techniques. As he meets the passing glance of a blonde beauty in a restaurant window, he's compelled to follow her, as if their lives are linked on a supernatural level. Though he believes in logic and the evidence of his own eyes, spending time in Ava's company shows him how wrong his thinking is. When a three-hundred-year-old evil spirit possesses Douglas in an effort to kill Ava due to her witch status, she and the doctor must find a way to thwart the threat from beyond the grave despite personal peril. As their relationship evolves into something deep and abiding, they'll discover just how powerful a force love truly is.

Sir, Permit Me to Solicit the Favor of Your Vote and Interest to Succeed to the Office of Apothecary to the London-Hospital, Vacant by the Resignation of Mr. Vaughan, -having Served this Laudable

Institution as Assistant - Apothecary, (and, I Trust, by Every Attention to My Duty, Rendered My Conduct Agreeable to the Governors and Medical Gentlemen) I Am Induced to Hope for Your Present Support: - Should I be So Fortunate as to be Elected to that Office, I Promise, by Following Every Direction, and Paying My Utmost Attention to So Important a Situation, to Prove Myself Worthy of Your Choice. A healing remedy or a deadly poison? Owen Archer confronts a lethal mix of dangerous attraction and troubling secrets when two knights die unexpectedly. York, 1363. Master apothecary Nicholas Wilton provides a healing potion for a wounded soldier at St. Mary's Abbey. A KILLER CURE? When Brother Wulfstan administers the special physick to the pilgrim and a fellow knight, tragedy strikes. Is the poisonous potion an accident, or a deliberate act of murder? Owen is sent to investigate by the Archbishop of York, disguised as an apothecary apprentice assisting Wilton's wife, Lucie. THE SINS OF A KNIGHT He soon learns that the first victim, Sir Geoffrey Montaigne, travelled to York to atone a past sin, and had crossed paths with Nicholas before. What was the knight's past misdeed, and what is his connection to the apothecary? IS FORBIDDEN LOVE A DEADLY DRUG? Owen uncovers troubling links between the knight and others close to Nicholas - including Lucie, who has captured his heart. But is he falling in love with a killer? THE OWEN ARCHER MYSTERIES 1. A Rowland for an Oliver: or a Jamaica review of the Edinburgh Reviewers. [A defence by T. Dancer of his work The Medical Assistant. In reply to an anonymous review by-Fitzgerald published in the Royal Gazette of Jamaica, and there wrongly said to be reprinted from the Edinburgh Review.] MS. note

Annie Dresden is twenty-six years old, with no fortune, and nothing but a quick, practical mind to recommend her. Taken in by her apothecary uncle after her father's death, she's happy to be his assistant but there's no future for her as an apothecary. The only proper career for a woman is as a wife and mother, but for Annie the possibility is dwindling. When a long-forgotten suitor returns, it seems fate has given her another chance. A man turned away by her father years ago for lack of fortune is unexpectedly wealthy after his brother drowned aboard the Brig Minerva. For eight years he's dreamed of marrying Annie, and she's not about to throw away her last opportunity for a family of her own. He loves her, and he's a respectable man - that's a strong enough foundation for marriage, isn't it? But Annie soon finds that her husband has his own ideas about marriage, making her new life unexpectedly difficult. And when disaster strikes, all her hopes of a happy future are thrown into turmoil and she is left wondering who she can trust.

Mr. Eldridge Having Resigned the Office of Apothecary to the London Hospital, i Beg Leave to Offer Myself a Candidate to Succeed Him, and to Solicit the Favour of Your Vote and Interest on the Occasion. I Am Encouraged in this Request by a Consciousness of Having Done My Duty to the Utmost of My Power During the Four Years i Experienced the Favour of the Governors as Assistant-apothecary. Should i be So Happy as to be Elected ...

Lillian Haswell, brilliant daughter of the local apothecary, yearns for more adventure and experience than life in her father's shop and their small village provides. She also longs to know the truth behind her mother's disappearance, which villagers whisper about but her father refuses to discuss. Opportunity comes when a distant aunt offers to educate her as a lady in London. Exposed to fashionable society and romance--as well as clues about her mother--Lilly is torn when she is summoned back to her ailing father's bedside. Women are forbidden to work as apothecaries, so to save the family legacy, Lilly will have to make it appear as if her father is still making all the diagnoses and decisions. But the suspicious eyes of a scholarly physician and a competing apothecary are upon her. As they vie for village prominence, three men also vie for Lilly's heart.
