Isolation of limonene - Isolation of limonene by Chemistry 4all 1,567 views 7 years ago 3 minutes, 22 seconds - This video shows the process of extraction of limonene from orange peels, by steam distillation.

The first thing to do is to place the orange peels into a round bottom flask

Then 100 ml of tap water are added to the RB flask

This technique is commonly known as steam distillation and is widely employed for the obtention of essential oils

... directly distill the limonene, out from the orange peels,?

This implies that in order to directly distill the limonene it would be necessary to expose it to very high temperatures.

The problem is that almost all organic compounds are prone to decomposition and oxidation when exposed to high temperatures

Steam distillation is based on codestillation, where a more volatile liquid such as water is brought up to boil, the vapor coming out is able to carry small amounts (droplets) of our compound.

As limonene is insoluble in water we should obtain two layers in the receiving flask our compound and an aqueous layer

The top layer is recovered using a separatory funnel or a pipette.

The density was found to be 0,84 g/ml which is in accordance to that of pure limonene.
