Intro

needs assessment organizational analysis, person analysis, and task analysis.

ANALYSIS Organizational analysis involves identifying whether training supports the company's strategic direction; whether managers, peers, and employees support training activity, and what training resources are available.

PERSON Person analysis helps identify employees who need training; lack of training or poor training is one possible explanation.

A gap analysis includes determining what is responsible for the difference between employees' current and expected performance.

Employees have the personal characteristics • The work environment will facilitate learning and not interfere with performance

Task analysis results in a description of work activities, including tasks performed by the employee and the knowledge, skills, and abilities required to complete the tasks.
