

We Sell Our Time No More Workers Struggles Against Lean Production In The British Car Industry

#lean production #worker struggles #British car industry #labor rights #employee empowerment

This pivotal moment in the British car industry highlights growing worker struggles against the traditional demands of lean production, signaling an end to merely 'selling their time'. Employees are increasingly asserting their autonomy, advocating for enhanced labor rights and true worker empowerment within automotive manufacturing. This movement signifies a profound shift in industrial relations, where the pursuit of fair working conditions and self-determination takes precedence over outdated production models.
