What's wrong with Good Practice knowledge? • Limitations of knowledge, how it is captured through impact & process evaluation and how it is managed • Common underlying themes: • Much knowledge remains tacit and inarticulated, hence
Does the Good Practice description contain the right Information in the right detail to help replicate it innovatively and intelligently in different contexts? Quick-read glossy summaries are necessary but : • Descriptions of practical methods are brief • Information on generic principles or mechanisms underlying the action, which do transfer between contexts, is often unclear . eg 'our project is about working with young people'- both imprecise and confuses outreach with actual intervention to
Elements of New Framework seeking to meet specification • Defining Crime Prevention, Community Safety, Partnership • Clarifying Focus, Units, Levels of action • Conjunction of Criminal Opportunity - framework to map both situational & offender-oriented approaches covering • Know About crime - immediate causes of criminal events • Know-What works to prevent it - interventions in causes 5Is - Process of doing prevention
