The House on the Top of the Hill

It seemed like a stroke of luck when GUY LEMON came to the quiet river town of Stillwater and almost instantly acquired the job of caretaker to HOUND'S HILL ESTATE, an isolated mansion on the edge of town. There was good pay and he gets to live in the swankiest digs available. What's not to like, right? Sure, he did it despite the stern warnings from the town locals that the house and property are plagued by hauntings from a BLUE LADY, a HELL HOUND roaming the grounds, a MAD DOCTOR conducting strange experiments and a enigmatic GHOST PLANE seen on the rare occasion in the night sky. Others swear they've seen Elvis up there. Guy, however, wrote these off quickly as ramblings of wacky locals and, in his humble opinion, are of no concern. Only until they turned out to be true?.. sort of. When Guy stumbles headfirst into the secrets of Hounds Hill and shadowy government agents show up at his doorstep seeking answers to the rumors and searching for a missing scientist, things take a turn for the more mysterious and dangerous. Between the Shadow Agents and the Haunts of Hounds Hill, like Hank the Gremlin, who has a history of destruction in the skies, all bets are off if anyone will survive to see another day.

The House on the Hill

Guytano Lemon stumbled upon way, way more than he ever wanted. After moving to the small, sleepy town of Stillwater, he heard all the rumors about the house he JUST started living in and working at being haunted beyond belief. Some spoke of a blue lady who haunts the halls, others whisper of a ghost plane that roars through the empty skies at the full moon, or a hell hound that roams the estate grounds at night! All were rumors he felt confident brushing casually off as just tall tales and local ramblings. ALL TRUE! After figuratively and literally stumbling onto a secret passage deep in the Hounds Hill Mansion, he suddenly found himself staring down the very Ghost Plane of legend...and a most curious green creature tinkering with the warbird. Rumors and myths can sometimes be true.

The Song of the Golden Hare

From the number one bestselling author, Peter James, comes The Secret of Cold Hill. The spine-chilling follow-up to The House on Cold Hill. Now a smash-hit stage play. Cold Hill House has been razed to the ground by fire, replaced with a development of ultra-modern homes. Gone with the flames are the violent memories of the house's history, and a new era has begun. Although much of Cold Hill Park is still a construction site, the first two families move into their new houses. For Jason and Emily Danes, this is their forever home, and for Maurice and Claudette Penze-Weedell, it's the perfect place to live out retirement. Despite the ever present rumble of cement mixers and diggers, Cold Hill Park appears to be the ideal place to live. But looks are deceptive and it's only a matter of days before both couples start to feel they are not alone in their new homes. There is one thing that never appears in the estate agent brochures: nobody has ever survived beyond forty in Cold Hill House and no one has ever truly left . . .

A Genealogical and Heraldic Dictionary of the Landed Gentry of Great Britain and Ireland

"Jack and Doris Oliver meet real estate agent Nancy Flesch to complete the purchase of a house on Huntington hill next door to the mansion owned by the mysterious J. Pierson-Grenville. On the way home they discuss their thirteen-year-old son David, whom they have sent to a psychiatrist because of an imaginary friend. David recalls meeting this friend, Joseph, five months before they moved to Blainesville and how Joseph predicted their move. Their first evening in the new house, Jack reviews what he has learned about J. Pierson-Grenville from Nancy Flesch and newspaper clippings. Doris suggests they visit the mansion, but Jack says the gate is closed. When David says it isn't, Jack makes a bet with him. To his surprise, they find the gate open. They proceed to the terrace in back for a better view. David, wakened from sleep in the middle of the night, sees Joseph on the lawn below. He joins him, until his parents, make him to return to the house. The next day, the Olivers recall what Nancy told them about Joseph. They learn more about him from the local bank manager. David, sitting in a park across the street, meets Lester, who reveals that he, too, has David's "gift." Mowing the lawn the next day, David and his father have an altercation over the tractor mower and David runs into the woods. For the first time, Jack and Doris realize that something serious is wrong and that they are up against forces beyond their belief. They take David to the psychiatrist, Dr. Barkley, and confer with their local physician, Dr. Stone. David's next session ends in the death of the psychiatrist and leaves David in a coma. Jack reads a book of poems by Joseph in the local library that thoroughly frighten him. He and David almost drown in the pond behind the mansion. The Olivers learn about other drownings in the pond under mysterious circumstances. Jack researches the drownings in the local library while David, supposedly wandering around town, pays a visit to Lester. He is punished for visiting Lester without his father's permission and runs away again. Jack finds him in the mansion under Joseph's spell. Lester, receiving psychic messages, seeks the aid of Father Martin, who prepares an exorcism. As they break into the mansion, Jack disappears through a mirror into a hell Joseph has prepared in the basement. Escaping at last, he finds the exorcism has cost the lives of Lester and Father Martin, not to mention Joseph. Some months later, when Joseph's will is read, the Olivers find they have inherited the house on Huntington hill as well as Joseph's fortune. But there are strings attached."

The volume also covers the important early Anglo-Saxon monastic and royal site of Hanbury, the burial place of St Werburgh, a Mercian princess; and offers accounts of the mansion houses built in and around the ancient forest area by members of the Bass brewing family and others, and the magnificent late 19th-century church of Hoar Cross, one of Bodley's masterpieces. Winter Wonderland

A house built high on the moor, A golden age ended by war, A house left empty, falling to ruin... During the Edwardian period, the wealthy Kearleys entertained important guests at their summer home on the moors; enjoying lavish parties showcasing the house and its views of the mountains. By the 1950s the house is falling apart, assailed by bleak winds on its moorland summit, and the last family to live there are preparing to move out. Their plans are stalled when, during a snowstorm, their youngest child, Alis, goes missing. Her siblings know more than they are letting on and try to keep their sister's disappearance secret. They must search for Alis in the 'other-house', the dark and empty part of the mansion, and it is here that they will find mysterious remnants of the original family. Gwylfa Hiraethog was built and rebuilt in North Wales, between 1898-1913, and derelict by the 1950s. This is the story of the first and last families to live at the house, the rise and fall of a golden age, and the onset of war and decline; played out against the backdrop of the house on the hill.
