Welcome To The Prayer For Your Children.

The Bible says that if there is any unforgiveness that it should be dealt with before praying.

Therefore we release any anger, bad feelings, resentment or any other wrong attitude before You now.

We declare that they shall be strong disciples of Jesus who are willing and obedient to live the life You have planned for them.

Great is the peace of the listener's children because of You, Lord.

You are with the listener's children all the time, no matter what they are facing and wherever they go.

We speak protection and safety over them now in Jesus Name.

Thank You that angels surround them.

You Lord are their refuge and fortress.

You will complete that which You have started within the lives of the listener's children.

Together we place the children in Your hands.

They are in Your hands.

They will choose life and love You all their days.

You are their Rock and their Life.

They are blessed when they come in or go out, and wherever they go Your favor surrounds them.

We declare an increase of wisdom and favor with God and man.

The listener will not provoke, irritate, or fret their children.

As of this moment they will no longer pressure them but allow you to work within their lives.

Lord help the listener to train their children in the way they should go so that when they are old they will not depart from it.

The enemy is turned back from the listener's children in the Name of Jesus.

The traps he will try to set will come to nothing in Jesus Name.

You are more than enough.

Prayers that Avail Much for Moms

In 2010, Dr. Wendy Flint was required to travel by flight every week for an executive sales job. As soon as the plane would reach 30,000 feet, the Holy Spirit would birth a prayer in her spirit. Five or six prayers would rapidly flow from her pen then stop. This continued on 20 roundtrips (40 flights) until she had 200 prayers. This book is more needed now than ever before in the history of workplace America. Christians are enduring persecution, ethical dilemmas, lawsuits and incompetent leadership in greed-driven organizations. Yet, in the worst of companies, God wants to be Lord and He does that through his people. One scripture and prayer a day can make a huge difference in accessing the wisdom and strength we need to stand strong and to let peace prevail. Corporations, hospitals, governments, and schools are high-pressured and stress-filled, but if we abide in Him through His Word and a moment of prayer, He will abide in us. Also included in this book are Workplace Wisdom devotionals that were written in Wendy's journal and then sent by email daily to over 1000 Christians throughout the United States.

Workplace Prayers

Containing prayers that take women from their first day on the job to retirement, Huffman provides prayers for dealing with issues such as office politics, co-workers, traffic jams, success, finances, being a working mother and Christian life in the workplace.

Prayers that work all around

Mark was a successful businessman, who wanted to learn how to pray. He was a leader in his church longing for a deeper relationship with God through prayer. We met one evening in my office. I started by having him tell me about himself. After a while I suggested that we stop pray and invite the Holy Spirit to come and lead us in our conversation. He agreed. At a certain point I asked Mark to sit comfortably and put his hand face downward on his knees and just remain silent. In that position I asked him to release all of his daily stress to God and then remain quiet in a listening mode. After about 30 seconds he started praying, thanking God for his family, me, his job, whatever. I quickly asked him to be quiet and listen to what I had to say. Three times I repeated, "Trust not on your own understanding; acknowledge God in all your way and he will guide your path" (Proverbs 3:5). After a few minutes I saw tears running down his cheeks, "O my God!" he said. I asked what had happened and he responded, "God spoke to me! 'He said I was a good son.' I knew it was God. I have never heard the voice of God before. Do you mean that this is prayer? I just have to be quiet? Why hasn't anyone ever told me about this before?" This book is about helping people like Mark, and others who want a deeper relationship with God. Whether you are a beginner or a seasoned prayer person, this book has principles for how to partner with God to exercise your authority in extending God's Kingdom. Our prayer for you is that by sharing here what we have learned and experienced over decades of prayer, Holy Spirit will help you grow in your prayer life and through practicing prayer you will grow in your heart's desire for more intimacy with our heavenly Father.

On-the-job Prayers

The world around us is constantly changing. Global markets gain and tumble, economies rise and fall. Organizations need to constantly improvise and adapt to changing conditions. Concepts, theories, and ideas about management, organizational development, entrepreneurship, leadership, employee motivation, and numerous areas surrounding the workplace keep on evolving. This is indeed necessary as the marketplace is constantly changing. Amidst this continuous change, there are some constants. There are principles that transcend time, place, people, and culture. We refer to these as "Timeless Principles." They hold true regardless of the variants of when, where, what, and why. This is not a management book, but a book of "Timeless Principles." At the workplace, we encounter numerous challenges—corrupt sales processes, accounting malpractices, unscrupulous bosses, questionable advertising methods, employment terminations, the challenge of time for family, struggles with work–life balance, and many other situations. This book provides these "Timeless Principles." Entire organizations and businesses can be transformed as its people assimilate and apply these "Timeless Principles." Prayers That Avail Much for Your Family

"United we will stand until the knowledge of the glory of the Lord covers every nation as the waters cover the seas. Together we are making way for God's will to be done on earth even as it is in heaven!"

Prayers that Avail Much to Overcome Anxiety and Depression

"Pray as though no work would help, and work as if no prayer would help." This saying is referring to two different types of people. One group prays for help from God, but in a half-hearted manner. Another group feels that when things go wrong or they want something, they should merely pray to God and do nothing else. This proverb is trying to bring about a balance between these two groups of people. The first part of the proverb says that we should pray as if no work would help. In this kind of prayer, we are focusing all our attention on God. All our being is immersed in the prayer. It is as if we became the prayer itself. When we pray with such intensity and single-mindedness, God cannot ignore us. There is the story of a mother who was cooking food in the kitchen. Suddenly, her child let out a tremendous scream from another room. She dropped what she was doing and ran to pick up the child to comfort him. A few days later while the mother was cooking, the child, again in another room, began to whimper, but the mother ignored him. Realizing the mother was ignoring him, he tried whimpering again, but she ignored him. He sheepishly crept into the kitchen and said, "Mommy, how is it that the other day you came running when I cried, but today you did not come?" She replied, "The other day I could hear the pain in your voice, but today I knew from the tone that you were just faking it for my attention." Similarly, God knows when our prayers are sincere and we are truly crying for God. God knows when we are in pain and truly want help. However, if we are merely half-hearted in our prayer, then God may or may not respond. That is why it is said that when a seeker is truly yearning for God, God hears it and will help that seeker find a way back to God. Similarly, there is a saying, "God hears the sincere cry of an ant sooner than the trumpeting of an elephant." This is instructing us that if we have a deep prayer for something, we should pray with our whole heart, soul, and mind as if no work would help us achieve what we want. Then, our prayer will bear fruit. The second part of the proverb is that we should work as if no prayer would help. This is addressed to those who would sit back and pray but not make any effort to attain what they want. Many people take prayer as an excuse not to put in any effort. The first group of people who are praying with all their heart and soul are doing so only after they have put in an effort and tried their best. They are following the dictum that where all else fails, there prayer succeeds. They have reached the point of desperation because they have tried everything else. However, this second group of people do not even try to do anything to attain what they want. Many people use God as a crutch to avoid work. They say, "God will take care of everything. Why do I have to do anything?" This attitude is erroneous. If we felt that we could sit back and pray and that God would do everything, then we would find a society of apathy and laziness. People would always be relying on God and others to take care of them. True spirituality involves doing our part to take our share of responsibility and then use our time to help others. We should work as hard as we can to fulfil our duties as if no prayer would help. In this way, we would be fulfilling our responsibilities to ourselves, our family, our communities, and our world. We would be of use and of service to others. Then, after putting in our best effort, if we find we still do not succeed, we can pray with all our heart, soul, and mind for help. Spirituality is the path of positive mysticism. We come into this world with certain karmas that must be paid off. As part of our karmic debt we may have to support our family, we may have a certain role or job that we have to fulfill in this lifetime, and we have a collective responsibility to our society.
