The PCI DSS is a standard, not a law. It is enforced through contracts between merchants, acquiring banks and payment brands.

Each payment brand can fine acquiring banks for PCI DSS compliance violations, and acquiring banks can withdraw the ability to accept card payments from non-compliant merchants.

Build and maintain a secure network • Install and maintain a firewall configuration to protect cardholder data • Do not use vendor-supplied defaults for system passwords and other security parameters

Protect cardholder data • Protect stored cardholder data • Encrypt transmission of cardholder data across open, public networks

Maintain a vulnerability management programme • Use and regularly update anti-virus software or programs • Develop and maintain secure systems and applications

Implement strong access control measures • Restrict access to cardholder data by business need-to-know • Assign a unique ID to each person with computer access • Restrict physical access to cardholder data

Regularly monitor and test networks • Track and monitor all access to network resources and cardholder data • Regularly test security systems and processes

Maintain an information security policy • Maintain a policy that addresses information security for employees and contractors

Compliance with the Standard is notoriously complicated, and many organisations fail to maintain their compliance. Verizon's 2018 Payment Security Report found that nearly half (47.5%) of organisations it assessed for interim PCI DSS compliance had failed to maintain all security controls.

There are several types of SAQ, each of which has different requirements. Some require internal and external vulnerability scans, and regular penetration testing.

Whatever your requirements, a PCI DSS gap analysis ...

It includes a detailed review of compliance activities, such as on-site interviews with key staff, an assessment of the in-scope system components and configurations, and a physical and logical data flow analysis, in addition to examining out-of-scope components.
