"Innovation and Research Strategy for Growth" "The Coalition Government is putting innovation and research at the heart of its growth agenda. Innovation is essential to competitiveness and higher living standards." Department of Business Innovation and Skills 2011

Innovation: the Oslo manual "Innovation is the implementation of a new or significantly improved product (good or service), or process, a new marketing method, or a new organisational method in business practices, workplace organisation of external relations."

Drivers of growth "Market services have become the main driver of the economy and the major contributor to productivity growth, especially as the use of information and communications technology (ICT) services has grown. Services are also the main source of job creation across the OECD area." OECD 2005

Theories of value "But though labour be the real measure of the exchangeable value of all commodities, it is not that by which their value is commonly estimated... Every commodity, besides, is more frequently exchanged for, and thereby compared with, other commodities than with labour." Adam Smith, The Wealth of Nations, 1776

Innovation - or creativity? "The phenomenon by which human activity value." Prof. John Sloboda 2012

"Innovation is the implementation of a new or significantly improved product (good or service), or process, a new marketing method, or a new organisational method in business practices, workplace organisation of external relations." Oslo definition The common pattern underlying creativity is the "shaking together of already existing but previously separate areas of knowledge, frames of perception or universes of discourse"

Leadership and ambition in population history "Our ambition, which set us apart from the leading demographic institutes of France, was to link demography to social and economic change ... as a means to understanding the wider economy." E.A. (Tony) Wrigley
