A System of the Chaotic Mind

A System of the Chaotic Mind is a series of short stories that tell of everyday people placed in overwhelming situations and beating odds to find more of themselves. They might make you laugh, cry, and think, but regardless of the emotion, they will make you feel.

The Outsider's Mind

The Outsider's Mind is a collection of short stories examining human nature and the human condition. Each tale is illustrated by a different supernatural character or circumstance. Immortal beings, zombies, and hyper-intelligent insects are only a few of those sharing their assessment of humanity. If you've ever felt misunderstood or wondered what it would be like to see the world through the eyes of the outcasts, this book is for you. Part short story collection, part quote book, and part philosophical analysis, The Outsider's Mind looks into concepts that speak to the various ways we experience and interpret the world around us that often go unrecognized. "Unless you're looking for or creating a dull moment, you'll go blind attempting to find one." - Broken Hands

Other Minds and Other Stories

From the award-winning author of A Questionable Shape and White Dialogues, a brilliant, anxious, and hilarious new collection. A man lends his phone to a stranger in the mall, setting off an uncanny series of Unknown calls that come to haunt his relationship with jealousy and dread. A well-meaning locavore tries to butcher his backyard chickens humanely, only to find himself absorbed into the absurd violence of the pecking order. A student applying for a philosophy fellowship struggles to project himself into the thoughts of his hypothetical judges, becoming increasingly possessed and overpowered by the problem of other minds. And in "The Postcard," a private detective is hired to investigate a posthumous message that a widower has seemingly received from his dead wife, leading him into a foggy landscape of lost memories, shifting identities, and strange doublings. Cerebral and eerie, captivating and profound, these twelve stories expertly guide us through the paranoia and obsession of everyday horrors, not least the horrors of overthinking what other people might be thinking. With all of Sims's trademark virtuosity, innovation, and wit, Other Minds and Other Stories continues to expand the possibilities of contemporary fiction.

The Recesses of My Mind

This book is a collection of short stories all within the genre of Science Fiction. The title of the collection is explained by how Mr. Thornton created the stories. He did not sit down to purposely write science fiction. Instead, each story formed in the back of subconscious mind and slowly worked its way forward into his conscious mind. The stories did indeed form in the recesses of his mind. At this point, he wrote them down and then over time tweaked them until the stories were complete and coherent. The exception to this rule came with the last story where he consciously wanted to write a story about his home town, though the details of the story still formed in his subconscious as did the others. While each story stands separately, with no connection to the others, some of the stories do have similar general subjects. For instance, more than one story deals with the subject of time travel, but each story deals with time travel in a different manner.

A Twisted Mind

A journey of twists, turns and explosive drama, this collection of short stories has it all.

Do You Feel Me?

THE PAST IS OVER. THE PRESENT IS LIFE. THE FUTURE IS YOURS. SOMETIMES YOU DONT CHOOSE THE BOOK; THE BOOK WILL CHOOSE YOU. Do You Feel Me? is the heartfelt journey of a young blind man (Jonathan) bullied throughout his childhood for being different. The only person that doesnt judge and sees the kindness in Jonathans heart is Andrea his only friend. She helps him through. As Jonathan gets older, he begins to overcome his past traumas, refusing to let them interfere with his future and blossoms into a highly successful businessman. However, it isnt long before Jonathan once again comes into contact with his childhood bully but with the roles now reversed with the bully as an employee and Jonathan in control as the boss, how will Jonathan choose to use this power? Will he seek revenge? Or will he continue to be the same kindhearted Jonathan hes always been and leave the bully to his own conscience because as many people know, sometimes the best revenge is doing nothing at all. The Mind Unleashed is a collection of numerous stories about different elements of life and the events that occur in society today. The mind has so many thoughts running through it at all times, and its not often people put them onto paper, but Rem Conway decided to turn his thoughts into stories. With struggle, spirituality, positivity, and inspiration, it is a sure thing that there is a story in The Mind Unleashed for everyone.

In a Twisted Mind 3

1. Weather or Not: Finally, the government passes the Weather Forecasters Accountability Act. Meteorologists giving inaccurate forecasts will be punished on national TV. Accurate forecasts are soon normal except for one meteorologist.
2. Diner: New diners start popping up all over the East Coast. The service is so quick an investigative reporter wants answers as to how they can do this. He surprisingly finds out how and why to his demise.
3. The Blue Light: A National Security agent is accidentally given a top-secret document on the blue-light effect of flat-screen devices. After reading the report, he is left in a serious dilemma.
4. Drunken Ball: Bored with conventional ball games, a visionary and his brewery friends start new ball leagues with drunken players only. The games are hilarious and become popular with the spectators until his real agenda is exposed.
5. Behind Closed Doors: A high-tech private detective records secret meetings between major manufacturers and documents unbelievable secrets. He has to sequester himself in a remote South American country to avoid getting assassinated.
6. Hot Teeth: A mouth-borne disease is killing dentists, and soon they are almost extinct. Automobile mechanics start moonlighting repairing broken dentures, and the profit is so good criminals are stealing dentures right out of victims' mouths. 7. Camp Tawacko: Parents send the children to a camp in the Pocono's for a two-week vacation. Everything is great until they drive to the camp to pick up the children and find it doesn't exist. 8. Satan's Warning to You: Satan comes out of the furnace and boasts all his dirty deeds. 9. Tuco Tango: A Mexican federalist is diagnosed with a tapeworm. He finds the tapeworm is intelligent and starts telling him what to do. 10. Poly Wants a Cracker: A pet parrot has an extensive vocabulary and an agenda of his own. His owner is not playing with a full deck. 11. Bus to Paradise: A senior-citizen bus trip to a resort in Southern California is too good to be true, especially those tasty pork potpies. The bus driver gets suspicious when some of the seniors aren't returning from the round trip. 12. The Fat Veterinarian: When the economy tanks in a rural Southern state, food becomes scarce. A local veterinarian is forced to travel north to find work and food. After being hired at a vet hospital, he starts taking home some sample pets. 13. The Arboretum: A scientist is experimenting with advanced theories in life energy. He proves that trees have feelings and intelligence just like humans. He also finds that trees are plotting to destroy the human race.

Sea of Flesh

Book Description My muse is one strange entity. He, she, it, only seems to visit me while I'm in the shower. At times it can be months without a visitation. Then, boom, there it is throwing idea after idea at me, cramming every nook and cranny of my brain with story line after story line. It's like it has been storing up these little inspirations and then amuses itself by seeing if it can get my head to explode. Thank goodness the shower curtain is there to muffle the noise. This collection is the result of one of these encounters. The only connection the eighteen stories have is that they're all done in the flesh (well, except for the two dealing with the other side and the one that goes from one flesh to another). For the most part they have humor. There are two that deal with a more serious side though. But that's life. Sorry, but, non are X-rated. At the most, R. The ages of the characters run from the young to the aged. From depressed to loving life. From dimwitted to got-it-together. From honest to not-so-much. The main thing with this collection is to read and enjoy. To possibly escape from the day and relax, if only for a moment or two.

The Gray Mind

The present book, called The Gray Mind (a collection of short stories), is taken from the daily conditions of every human being that he sometimes encounters during his life and is considered a great challenge for him. But why humans find themselves in such a critical situation is a reflection of the behavioural complexities that lead them to a world far removed from individual imagination and to a world that is more like a hell that endangers their peace of mind. In this book, the author has made every effort to portray these conditions and to show that human beings are victims of conditions left to us by the superstitions and wrong frameworks of our predecessors. The author's attempt is simply to use the smallest spaces and the least characters to achieve the greatest concepts, which in today's terminology manifests itself as minimalism.

Contemplations of a Disturbed Mind

What if you could go inside your own head and walk along its tubes of life giving blood? What if you could see the electrical charges sending messages across your brain and watch as your antibodies flew by to attack whatever microbe was trying to harm you? What if you could visit your frontal lobes, the origin of all your thoughts, and speak to them as if they were separate living beings from yourself? Now... What if you were suddenly trapped in there and discovered something else was also living in your brain and that something hated you? What if you were moments from death and the only way to save yourself was to defeat this creature and find a way out of your own head? This is the riveting story of HEAD, the novel set in the middle of CONTEMPLATIONS OF A DISTURBED MIND, a collection of short stories that range from erotica, THE SLOW BURN, to a place where emotions walk around independent of the person feeling them, PASSION, to the fantastical, AN INTRODUCTION TO INSANITY, to a potential world ending conclusion, THE BIG RIP. Fast, sweeping, the stories in CONTEMPLATIONS OF A DISTURBED MIND will leave you wanting more.

Discords Of The Mind Vol. 1: A Collection Of Short Stories

A collection of short stories, written in several genres that span fiction, fantasy, vampires, crime, magic and more totaling 18 different stories. Enjoy universe after universe that never gets boring. Read about a normal cop in an otherwise exotic world, working to uncover the biggest break of his career. Or next, the adventures of a boy being thrown into the conflict between military and otherworldly being. Maybe reading about the travels of an unconventional caravan traveling the landscape to find the river east of Eden. Various stories featuring an expanded universe of magic are also contained within these covers, along with a piece on a post-apocalyptic government-ruled society. Read all this and more in Discords of The Mind Volume 1.

Discords Of The Mind Vol. 3: A Final Collection Of Short Stories

Discords of The Mind comes again in a final release, a larger collection of short stories that span multiple genres from magic, dreams, fantasy, fiction, vampires, and more, consisting of 22 total short stories. Some stories come to a final ending, while some stories are still brand new. Read about the ever expanding universe of magic and legends. Or possibly the toppling of hundred year civilization between humans and otherworldly beings. Maybe read about the original tale of a gunslinger making his way as an adventurer at the cusp of civilization, or the return of the everyday life of a vampire, trying to adjust to a new life. All this and more in Discords of The Mind Vol. 3. Find a public copy of "0-0-1 The Gate Guardian: Future" by going to Archive.org and searching for "The Gate Guardian BC Neon"

Mindless Short Stories

A hangman loose from the 1800's is still murdering people, that's how the story goes-what if it's true? A man falls into a coma, yet thinks he is still living his life. An antique dealer meets with a strange collector who has a very rare collection. A woman falls for another man; her husband is a mad scientist! The wrong man gets murdered, jealousy drives a person to have a deep hunger, a boy becomes worse than a serial killer and the list goes on.

In a Twisted Mind a Collection of Short Stories

A farm family in northern New Jersey is constantly shaken by a new airport. Supernatural activity, noise, and fear forces the family to relocate their farm to rural Northeastern Pennsylvania. An ironic and twisted ending.

Discords Of The Mind Vol. 2: Another Collection Of Short Stories

The return of Discords of The Mind, another collection of short stories that span multiple genres from magic, dreams, fantasy, fiction, vampires, crime and more, consisting of 17 total short stories. Some stories make a return in crafted sequels and enjoy even more content. Read about the magical afterlife of the universe's greatest magician in his travel to impress even the gods! Along with even more magical tales. Another cop, years later with his super-powered partner, comes to uncover old cases, only to make the biggest breaks of their careers. Another sequel featuring a group of exploring soldiers to cross over to an alien world, or the continued adventure of escapees from a terrible regime finding themselves in a supernatural phenomenon known only as the Mystic. Vampires make their return in the mundane life of a forever teenager. Mind of Darkness

Twelve short stories of dark mystery - The Lady in Black: A man can't shake an old lady in black; The Dark Things: Ever think things around you aren't as they seem?; The Doom: Sometimes dreary days don't end with the sun shining; Tricks of the Mind: Does your mind ever play tricks on you; The Neighborhood: A block party with an evil twist; Handling Spirits: Choose how to get rid of spirits wisely; Nine Lives: Do cats have nine lives?; A Reasonable Man: Reasonable is always relative; The Door: Is change always good; A Clean House: Keeping the house clean can be a chore; The Attic Room: Cleaning the attic isn't easy; The Man in the House: Sometimes we don't want to leave our home.

Rattled Mind

What I present to you, the reader is a collection of short stories from the unique mind of W.A. McDonald. This collection spans many years of writing. While some of the stories may have been updated slightly to make them more readable, or address changes in technology since they were first written, the premise of each story remains unchanged. Some stories like M.E.T.S Corp were written before the advent of the tablet, Bluetooth, or portable computing devices. It takes place in a world where the ice caps are no more. Because of its age, changes in technology needed to be addressed. Other stories like Dignity are much newer and come to these pages unchanged. Dignity is a Flash Fiction piece that deals with a man who does not want to outlive his dignity. Other stories within the pages of Rattled Mind include Exodus. A story about environmentalism morphing into oppressive theocracy. Herb, and Zero Atmosphere are stories based on the same world I created for Exodus. Second Chance, and Free Enterprise are flash fiction pieces based on the concept of global tech giants waging warfare for market share. The intro to these stories offers an explanation as to why there are two stories. There is even a story that deals with the possibility of life after death, something I don't necessarily believe in, but that is why we call it fiction. Each and every story is more about the characters, and their lives within the worlds I created. These are not a collection of technology driven stories, or stories of universal conquest. These are stories about normal people living in extraordinary times. One of them, It Will be History, even takes you, the reader to a distant planet. Between the covers of Rattled Mind, you will find over a dozen short stories ranging in length from less than a thousand words, to well over eight thousand words. Take a chance, buy this book, at least one of these stories should tickle your fancy.

The Bubble Man

Not since Kurt Vonnegut has a satirist drawn on so many of society's dark principles to create a collection of short stories such as these. Philosophical, horrifying and funny; this book is full of bizarre reasoning, horrendous reality and unconventional wit.

Inside My Mind -

Inside My Mind is the definitive collection of his short stories and flash fiction compiled in one anthology. Each volume covers different time periods in the writing career of Douglas Owen. Volume I, covers the very first flash fiction stories he created as well as several short stories from 2012 and 2013. This book, initially published in the spring of 2014, quickly became a hit among readers due to its diverse genre. Short stories like The End of the World, Ark One, and Lonely cover various aspects of Science Fiction and the human condition. The Cross pushes you beyond imagination concerning faith, while Equinox hits a disturbing realization that all rituals are not created equal. Earth Blood, a cross over Fantasy/Science Fiction piece, will bend your understanding of Dwarves, and the True Hansel and Gretel retells the classic Grimm tale through the eyes of that hated witch. And, once you think you're safe, Bone Digging and The Basement bring out the spiritual world to you. Phoenix rates Inside My Mind: Volume I 5/5 Stars "I could not put this down! The stories ranged so wildly from the possible to the fanatically unbelievable, and yet it was all so cleverly written to make me feel as though I were a fly on the proverbial wall. I can't wait to reread it!" Michael rates Inside My Mind: Volume I 5/5 Stars "I have initially bought this as a Kindle book but after reading it have decided to purchase the paperback for my collection. The stories vary in length however none are too long and some are literally a couple of pages. I was planning to read the book on the bus travelling to work but after reading the first story The End of the World I found myself finishing the entire book in a day."

Oblivion

In the stories that make up Oblivion, David Foster Wallace joins the rawest, most naked humanity with the infinite involutions of self-consciousness -- a combination that is dazzlingly, uniquely his. These are worlds undreamt of by any other mind. Only David Foster Wallace could convey a father's desperate loneliness by way of his son's daydreaming through a teacher's homicidal breakdown ("The Soul Is Not a Smithy"). Or could explore the deepest and most hilarious aspects of creativity by delineating the office politics surrounding a magazine profile of an artist who produces miniature sculptures in an anatomically inconceivable way ("The Suffering Channel"). Or capture the ache of love's breakdown in the painfully polite apologies of a man who believes his wife is hallucinating the sound of his snoring ("Oblivion"). Each of these stories is a complete world, as fully imagined as most entire novels, at once preposterously surreal and painfully immediate. "Stunning...Wallace is an astonishing storyteller whose fiction reminds us why we learned to read in the first place." --San Francisco Chronicle

Realms of the Mind

Mind of a Mad Man

Mind of a Mad Man is a collection of seven stories that will send you plummeting into the shadowy depths of insanity, as you encounter jealous spirits, psychotic sadists, and crazed addicts.

The Hole in Your Mind

This collection of short and flash fiction will take you from the depths of space to the darkest reaches of your mind. My intent in collecting these here is not to make you believe they might be real but to play off the little voice in the back of your mind that asks, "Could this be real?" Only then will you explore the, Hole in Your Mind, where these stories become very real. "- We cannot change what we become. I am a serial killer and she is a girl on a hook."

Chaos!

Chaos! is a collection of 100 short stories, all entirely different, that result in a bizarrely disorienting, completely unique reading experience.

When Madness Wakes

A collection of short stories intended to make you go "huh". Do you enjoy twisted endings and general spooky feelings? Then this is the book for you! Get your spook on with When Madness Wakes. Turn off the lights, read by flashlight under the covers, go to a haunted house to read this. Or a cemetery. Let the ghosts in the pages fill you with dread as you melt into them and forever become stuck to this book.

Chaotic and Curious

'Chaotic and Curious' has a selection of short stories direct from the imagination of Lizzie Spence, except for three which actually happened to Lizzie but have been written up in the third person. To give the stories some explanation Lizzie would say that we all lead different lives - some lives are touched by events that can be explained, are carried along as if they were on a roller coaster, stressful yes but with a positive outcome. This defines the 'Chaotic' stories in my book. Others lives are touched by events which cannot be explained, paranormal perhaps - this might include the loss of a loved one and certainly includes the spiritual - that strange feeling that we sometimes have that we are being looked after by our forebears. This defines the 'Curious' stories in my book. My stories are not frightening; I think they contain hope for all who live life. If my characters were to meet each other they would all find something to talk about, their lives having been touched by something which was worth reporting which is true of all of us. Their lives are demanding but interesting and often mystifying but they can seek explanations where there are some. 'Chaotic and Curious' is about people with demanding, interesting and sometimes mystifying lives where all my characters find their own way through life challenges. The story characters represent all age groups.

Shifting Tides I

The imagination is a place where anything can happen. Every story is a vehicle of transport into worlds, times, and places the reader has chosen to traverse. There are challenges along the way that excite and titillate the taste for more insights into possibilities of what might happen. This collection of short stories begins a journey of the mind through the places of those possibilities. Science fiction provides an intellectual landscape to explore possibilities; and there is nothing that is impossible. What comes as fiction may, in fact, become reality in the near future. It is not the science that really matters; it is the way the characters respond to each situation. Each of the following stories gives insight into how humans engage new situations. Read each story and decide for yourself where truth lies. As the author, I lived every possibility as I wrote each one. Some stories have large segments of actual happenings, others are pure fiction. I let you decide which is which.

The Chaos Chronicles

A boxed set of three novels: Neptune Crossing, Strange Attractors, and The Infinite Sea. When John Bandicut encounters alien sentience on Triton, his life changes forever?from sacrificing everything to save Earth, to confronting a malicious entity at the edge of the galaxy, to fathoming the abyss of an alien ocean. A major hard-SF adventure from the Nebula-nominated author of Eternity's End. Individual novels appeared in print from Tor Books. DRM-free ebook edition.

The Chaos Machine

'The Chaos Machine is an essential book for our times' - Ezra Klein The Chaos Machine is the story of how the world was driven mad by social media. The election of populists like Trump and Bolsonaro; strife and genocide in countries like Myanmar; the rampant spread of COVID-19 conspiracy theories as deadly as the pandemic itself; all of these are products of a breakdown in our social and political lives, a breakdown driven by the apps, companies and algorithms that compete constantly for our attention. Max Fisher is a leading New York Times technology reporter whose work has covered the way that social media sites - driven increasingly by artificial intelligence rather than human ingenuity - push users towards more and more extreme positions, deepening the divisions in society in pursuit of greater engagement and profit. With extraordinary access to the most powerful players in Silicon Valley, and with testimonies from around the world of the havoc being wreaked by our online selves, The Chaos Machine shows us how we got to this uniquely perilous moment - and how we might get out of it.

Mindstorms

A teenager and his mother embark on a whirlwind pleasure cruise, hoping to escape from their problems and searching for a little rest and relaxation. So they book passage on a no-frills excursion to the exotic Far East. Sounds like fun, huh? Too bad pleasure isn't on the ship's itinerary! Darren hears voices...in his head. Everyone thinks he's crazy. Even Darren begins to doubt his own sanity when a mysterious stranger pays him a late-night visit. Who is he? A time traveler, it turns out. A time traveler from 350 million years ago! A boy on his way back from a family holiday is annoyed when he picks up the wrong luggage at the airport. Well, he might as well try the clothes on for size, right? It's a perfect fit. Except for that weird third sleeve.... Like a spidery fracture in an otherwise unblemished pane of glass, there exists in the mind a place where reality is warped to expose a world of distortions. Each of these stories is an unforgettable glimpse into that mysterious world--a place called MindStorms.

The State of Mind

How do readers make sense of Hemingway's short stories? How is it possible that the camera-like quality of his narrative can appeal to our senses and arouse our emotions? How does it capture us? With reserved narrators and protagonists engaged in laconic dialogs, his texts do not seem to say much. This book consciously revisits our responses to the Hemingway story, a belated response to his invitation to discover what lies beneath the surface of his iceberg. What this pioneering critical endeavor seeks to understand is the thinking required in reading Hemingway's short fiction. It proposes a cognitively informed model of reading which questions the resources of the reader's imaginative powers. The cognitive demonstrations here are designed to have potentially larger implications for the short story's general mode of knowing. Drawing from both cognitively oriented poetics and narratology in equal measure, this book explains what structures our interaction with literary texts.

A Cognitive Approach to Ernest Hemingway's Short Fiction

Edgy, dark, and laced with comedy, this collection of short stories examines the psychological effects the mind can have on a person's life. In "Come Fly With Me," Calum turns to alcohol after his marriage fails. His only avenue of escape comes from a realistic recurring dream that he can fly-one that only occurs after he's been drinking. It has a rejuvenating effect on his fragile state of mind, and he can't wait to hit the bottle again and again. "The Crap Shoot" follows Danny, a struggling writer who discovers that life in the public bathroom of the local park is not what it seems. It's a dark and seedy world of drug dealing, prostitution, and homosexual activity. Going undercover as a homeless man, he vows to write a bestselling story to help launch his struggling career by exposing the appalling activities occurring right under the noses of the local residents. Badly disfigured in a fire accident, arrogant executive Alexander McKenzie has to take stock of his life in "Burning With Silence." With his paranoia and anger about to explode, he takes a different job where he is unknown and pretends to be deaf in order to hear what people say about him.

Memoirs of the Messed Up Minds

Chosen and introduced by Neil Gaiman, this thoroughly beguiling collection of short stories is inhabited by an amazing menagerie of creatures from myth, legend and dark imagination. Now available in paperback.

H. G. WELLS Ultimate Collection: 120+ Science Fiction Classics, Novels & Stories; Including Scientific, Political and Historical Works

At the untamed frontiers of intelligence, consciousness, matter, and reality lies Rudy Rucker's The Mad Professor, a collection of twelve mind-bending science fiction stories that probe the outer limits of possibility. Rucker, an accomplished computer scientist and mathematician with numerous science books and novels to his credit, brings his deep and varied knowledge of the mind, mathematics, and the ever-weird and wondrous workings of the physical universe to the stories collected here. In Chu and the Nants we read of a bizarre future following a Verge Singularity, in which hyperintelligent computers have taken over the solar system. Panpsychism Proved breaks down the boundaries between mind and matter, exploring the notion that "every object has a mind." And Six Thought Experiments Concerning the Nature of Computation is an exhilarating collection of mini-stories taking us to the outrageous extremes of theoretical speculation. In The Mad Professor, Rucker deploys the full range of his writing talent and scientific knowledge to take us on a wild romp through the known, the unknown, and the awesomely peculiar.

Mad Professor

This book is a collection of twelve fictional stories with an unusual slant. Some serve a touch of the paranormal without the gore and fright aspects, and some depict the ever-present conflicts between the human heart and the mind. Just as everything in life is not always black or white, the characters in these stories are complex and not easily categorized as "good" versus "evil."

Short Stories for the Unsettled Mind

“I, the Mind Spider as you name me—the deathless one, the eternally exiled, the eternally imprisoned—or so his overconfident enemies suppose—coming in.”
