The Story of Little Black Rambo (Keeping It Real)

A day in the life of Little Black Rambo, his friends L'il Honey and Little Hoodie and his dog, Mofo. Little Black Rambo dreams about "getting real" with rude parking attendants, bouncers and restaurant managers.

Little Black Sambo

The Story of Little Black Sambo is a children's book written and illustrated by Helen Bannerman, and first published by Grant Richards in October 1899 as one in a series of small-format books called The Dumpy Books for Children. Sambo is a South Indian boy who encounters four hungry tigers, and surrenders his colourful new clothes, shoes, and umbrella so they will not eat him. The tigers chase each other around a tree until they are reduced to a pool of melted butter; Sambo then recovers his clothes and his mother makes pancakes of the butter. The story was a children's favourite for half a century until the word sambo was deemed a racial slur in some countries, and the illustrations considered reminiscent of "darky iconography". Both text and illustrations have undergone considerable revision since.

The Story of Little Black Mingo And The Story of Little Black Sambo

Two delightful stories of Indian children who overcome the odds.

The Story of Little Black Sambo, by Helen Bannerman

The classic story by Helen Bannerman of a young Indian lad who meets up with a tiger and turns him into butter.

Little Black Sambo

Differentiated book- It has a historical context with research of the time-Little Black Sambo is a children's book written by Helen Bannerman, Scottish who lived for 32 years in Madras, South India. Its first publication was in London in 1899. (An American edition of the book was illustrated by Florence White Williams.) In the story, an Indian boy named Sambo stands up to a group of hungry tigers. The boy has to give his colorful clothes, his shoes and his umbrella to four tigers in exchange for them not eating him. Sambo retrieves the garments when the jealous and cocky tigers chase each other around a tree until finally they are transformed into a puddle of delicious and melted butter. The story made a great impression on children for half a century, but soon after it became quite controversial due to the use of the word sambo, as it contained racist overtones in some cities. The illustrations also caused some controversy as being reminiscent of "black iconography." The book contains a somewhat controversial story. Bannerman's original illustrations featured caricatures of a South Indian or Tamil boy. The narrative may have contributed to the use of the word "Sambo" as a racial slur. The success of the story led to the production of many pirated versions, cheap and generally easy to get.

The Story of Little Black Sambo

First published in London in 1899, this classic tale by Helen Bannerman tells the story of a little boy named Sambo who encounters four hunger tigers, outwits them, and turns them into butter, before returning safely home to eat a 169 pancakes for his supper.

The Little Black Sambo Story Book

THE STORY OF LITTLE BLACK SAMBO. Once upon a time there was a little black boy, and his name was Little Black Sambo. And his mother was called Black Mumbo. And his father was called Black Jumbo. And Black Mumbo made him a beautiful little Red Coat, and a pair of beautiful little blue trousers. And Black Jumbo went to the Bazaar, and bought him a beautiful Green Umbrella, and a lovely little Pair of Purple Shoes with Crimson Soles and Crimson Linings. And then wasn't Little Black Sambo grand? So he put on all his Fine Clothes, and went out for a walk in the Jungle. And by and by he met a Tiger. And the Tiger said to him, "Little Black Sambo, I'm going to eat you up!" And Little Black Sambo said, "Oh! Please Mr. Tiger, don't eat me up, and I'll give you my beautiful little Red Coat." So the Tiger said, "Very well, I won't eat you this time, but you must give me your beautiful little Red Coat." So the Tiger got poor Little Black Sambo's beautiful little Red Coat, and went away saying, "Now I'm the grandest Tiger in the Jungle." And Little Black Sambo went on, and by and by he met another Tiger, and it said to him, "Little Black Sambo, I'm going to eat you up!" And Little Black Sambo said, "Oh! Please Mr. Tiger, don't eat me up, and I'll give you my beautiful little Blue Trousers." So the Tiger said, "Very well, I won't eat you this time, but you must give me your beautiful little Blue Trousers." So the Tiger got poor Little Black Sambo's beautiful little Blue Trousers, and went away saying, "Now I'm the grandest Tiger in the Jungle." And Little Black Sambo went on, and by and by he met another Tiger, and it said to him, "Little Black Sambo, I'm going to eat you up!" And Little Black Sambo said, "Oh! Please Mr. Tiger, don't eat me up, and I'll give you my beautiful little Purple Shoes with Crimson Soles and Crimson Linings." But the Tiger said, "What use would your shoes be to me? I've got four feet, and you've got only two; you haven't got enough shoes for me." But Little Black Sambo said, "You could wear them on your ears." "So I could," said the Tiger: "that's a very good idea. Give them to me, and I won't eat you this time." So the Tiger got poor Little Black Sambo's beautiful little Purple Shoes with Crimson Soles and Crimson Linings, and went away saying, "Now I'm the grandest Tiger in the Jungle." And by and by Little Black Sambo met another Tiger, and it said to him, "Little Black Sambo, I'm going to eat you up!" And Little Black Sambo said, "Oh! Please Mr. Tiger, don't eat me up, and I'll give you my beautiful Green Umbrella." But the Tiger said, "How can I carry an umbrella, when I need all my paws for walking with?" "You could tie a knot on your tail and carry it that way," said Little Black Sambo. "So I could," said the Tiger. "Give it to me, and I won't eat you this time." So he got poor Little Black Sambo's beautiful Green Umbrella, and went away saying, "Now I'm the grandest Tiger in the Jungle." And poor Little Black Sambo went away crying, because the cruel Tigers had taken all his fine clothes....

The Story of Little Black Sambo...

2023 Hardcover Reprint of 1923 Edition. Full facsimile of the original edition, not reproduced with Optical Recognition software. Illustrated with 27 Color Drawings. Sambo is a South Indian boy who lives with his father and mother, named Black Jumbo and Black Mumbo, respectively. While out walking, Sambo encounters four hungry tigers, and surrenders his colorful new clothes, shoes, and umbrella so they will not eat him. The tigers are vain and each thinks he is better dressed than the others. They chase each other around a tree until they are reduced to a pool of ghee (clarified butter). Sambo then recovers his clothes and collects the ghee, which his mother uses to make pancakes. Despite controversy concerning the racism of illustrations of other contemporary editions, we reprint the original American Edition of 1923 by The Stokes Company. The illustrations therein are more of the type done to illustration contemporary children's books, like Rudyard Kipling's The Jungle Book, [1894] and which do not reflect the patent racism of other editions of Little Black Sambo; editions that clearly pandered to racist sentiment at the time.

Little Black Sambo

The Story of Little Black Sambo is a children's book written and illustrated by Scottish author Helen Bannerman and published by Grant Richards in October 1899. As one in a series of small-format books called The Dumpy Books for Children, the story was popular for more than half a century. Critics of the time observed that Bannerman presents one of the first Black heroes in children's literature and regarded the book as positively portraying Black characters in both the text and pictures, especially in comparison to books of that era that depicted Blacks as simple and uncivilised. However, it became an object of allegations of racism in the mid-20th century, due to the names of the characters being racial slurs for dark-skinned people, and the fact the illustrations were, as Langston Hughes put it, in the pickaninny style. Both text and illustrations have since undergone considerable revisions.

The Story of Little Black Mingo

The jolly and exciting tale of the little boy who lost his red coat and his blue trousers and his purple shoes but who was saved from the tigers to eat 169 pancakes for his supper, has been universally loved by generations of children. First written in 1899, the story has become a childhood classic and the authorized American edition with the original drawings by the author has sold hundreds of thousands of copies. Little Black Sambo is a book that speaks the common language of all nations, and has added more to the joy of little children than perhaps any other story. They love to hear it again and again; to read it to themselves; to act it out in their play

The Story of Sambo and the Twins

After four tigers steal Sambo's fine clothes, Sambo recovers them when the tigers attack each other.

The Story of Little Black Sambo

Once upon a time there was an English lady in India, where black children abound and tigers are everyday affairs, who had two little girls. To amuse these little girls she used now and then to invent stories, for which, being extremely talented, she also drew and coloured the pictures. Among these stories Little Black Sambo.

THE STORY OF LITTLE BLACK QUIBBA BY HELEN BANNERMAN

Sambo Sahib

The Story of Little Black Sambo is a children's book written and illustrated by Scottish author Helen Bannerman and published by Grant Richards in October 1899. As one in a series of small-format books called The Dumpy Books for Children, the story was popular for more than half a century. Critics of the time observed that Bannerman presents one of the first Black heroes in children's literature and regarded the book as positively portraying Black characters in both the text and pictures, especially in comparison to books of that era that depicted Blacks as simple and uncivilised. However, it became an object of allegations of racism in the mid-20th century, due to the names of the characters being racial slurs for dark-skinned people, and the fact the illustrations were, as Langston Hughes put it, in the pickaninny style. Both text and illustrations have since undergone considerable revisions.

Little Black Sambo by Helen Bannerman [2020 Illustrated Edition]

Sambo is a South Indian boy who lives with his father and mother, named Black Jumbo and Black Mumbo, respectively. While out walking, Sambo encounters four hungry tigers, and surrenders his colourful new clothes, shoes, and umbrella so they will not eat him. The tigers are vain and each thinks he is better dressed than the others. They chase each other around a tree until they are reduced to a pool of ghee (clarified butter). Sambo then recovers his clothes and collects the ghee, which his mother uses to make pancakes.

The Story of Little Black Sambo

Sambo is a South Indian boy who lives with his father and mother, named Black Jumbo and Black Mumbo respectively. While out walking, Sambo encounters four hungry tigers, and surrenders his colourful new clothes, shoes and umbrella so that they will not eat him. The tigers are vain and each thinks that he is better dressed than the others. They have a massive argument and chase each other around a tree until they are reduced to a pool of ghee (clarified butter). Sambo then recovers his clothes and collects the ghee, which his mother uses to make pancakes. Once upon a time there was a little black boy, and his name was Little Black Sambo. And his mother was called Black Mumbo. And his father was called Black Jumbo. And Black Mumbo made him a beautiful little Red Coat, and a pair of beautiful little Blue Trousers. And Black Jumbo went to the Bazaar and bought him a beautiful Green Umbrella and a lovely little Pair of Purple Shoes with Crimson Soles and Crimson Linings. And then wasn't Little Black Sambo grand? So he put on all his Fine Clothes and went out for a walk in the Jungle. And by and by he met a Tiger. And the Tiger said to him, "Little Black Sambo, I'm going to eat you up!" And Little Black Sambo said, "Oh! Please, Mr. Tiger, don't eat me up, and I'll give you my beautiful little Red Coat."

Little Black Sambo by Helen Bannerman: Original Hardcover 1923 Book Full Color

In a world where magic is fading and science begun to ascend, a young surgeon in medical school experiences an obsession so forbidden that its realization will change him forever. "She looked as if she were asleep, still with that slight smile, floating on the thick sargassum, glowing from the emerald tincture that would keep the small crabs and other scavengers from her. She looked otherworldly and beautiful." Sometimes life is not enough. Also including five more stories of dark wonder from Rambo and VanderMeer, from "The Dead Girl's Wedding March" to "The Farmer's Cat." Enter a world of rat suitors, severed arms, and Fungi Et Fruits de Mer, served up with prose both appetizing and uncanny. Dark fantasy has never been quite so decadent . . .

Little Black Sambo

CREEPERS, David Morrell's gripping joyride of a thriller, depicts every harrowing second in eight hours of relentless terror. A New York Times bestseller, it received the prestigious Stoker Award from the Horror Writers Association. On a cold October night, five people gather in a run-down motel on the New Jersey shore and begin preparations to break in to the Paragon Hotel. Built in the glory days of Asbury Park by a reclusive millionaire, the magnificent structure—which foreshadowed the beauties of art-deco architecture—is now boarded up and marked for demolition. The five people are "creepers," the slang term for urban explorers: city archeologists with a passion for investigating abandoned buildings and their dying secrets. On this evening, they are joined by a reporter who wants to profile them—anonymously, as this is a highly illegal activity—for a New York Times article. Frank Balenger isn't looking for just a story, however. And after the group enters the rat-infested tunnel leading to the hotel, it becomes clear that he will get much more than he bargained for. Danger, terror, and death await the creepers in a place ravaged by time and redolent of evil. The darkest secrets live in places you're not supposed to be. "Chilling." —Stephen King, New York Times bestselling author of Doctor Sleep "Crack this novel, and it's like an alien abduction of your brain—forget resuming your normal life until it's finished. This will be a classic." —Douglas Preston, New York Times bestselling co-author (with Lincoln Child) of White Fire "With its nonstop cascade of ingeniously contrived dangers and assaults, culminating in an apocalyptic finale, Creepers provides the essence of all thrillers, an intense emotional effect that will leave readers drained." —Washington Post

THE FAM

She was raised by her American-born mother and Jamaican father

In 1986 Tee started selling drugs on 123rd Street for Al and Stan

GOLD

After Norm, Tee started dating another drug dealer named Dog

Dog hustled out on Manhattan Avenue with his partner Kev Frost

In the summer of 1987 Tee met Unique

Unique was allegedly a major drug dealer

He is credited with creating the popular party chant "Ayo, Aight"

He was also the owner of Mecca Hall Audio

Lou Simms was from Uptown

He was allegedly a chief enforcer for The Lynch Mob

The Lynch Mob was a notorious Harlem drug crew

The crew was allegedly headed by Leon

Lou and Leon met in school

The Lynch Mob ran a multi-million dollar crack-cocaine business

In 1989 Tee and Lou started dating

Tee's cousin and Lou were childhood friends

WENGEANCE

In 1990 Jacob was shot dead while talking on a payphone

It was alleged Jacob was killed in revenge for the death of Wild Al and a beef with T-Money over Jacob's wife

Al's bestfriend Rasheed was allegedly behind Jacob's murder

After Jacob died his younger brother vowed to avenge his death

All of a sudden they were ambushed by 3 or 4 hooded gunmen

Jacob's brother was going after people who he thought was responsible for his brothers death

Tee Money was a hustler from 127th Street

One night Tee Money was sitting in his vehicle with a passenger

Jacob's brother allegedly walked up to the vehicle and opened fire

Tee Money and his passenger died at the scene

Jacob's brother eventually tracked down Rasheed and shot him multiple times

Rasheed died in front of Harlem's Mart 125

However Jacob's brother's murder spree came to an abrupt end

He ended up getting killed by a unknown assailant

His murder still remains unsolved

THE PHONE CALL

Rich Porter was a major player in the Harlem drug trade

In 1989 Rich Porter's little brother Donnell was kidnapped and held for ransom

The kidnappers demanded a ransom of $500,000 for Donnell's safe release

In 1990 Rich Porter was found shot to death on City Island in the Bronx

Two weeks later, Donnell Porter's body was discovered

In the summer of 1990 Tee met Fritz

Fritz was a big time drug kingpin from 112th and St. Nicholas Ave

Tee was then introduced to Fritz best friend and business partner Ace

Ace was from the East Side of Harlem

Tee ultimately broke up with Lou

Following the split, Tee started dating Ace

In 1991 Ace was arrested in connection with a 1987 murder

Her duties included moving kilos of cocaine and collecting money owed to Ace
On Fritz recommendation, Tee bought a safe to store the drug money
One day three masked intruders armed with guns forced their way into her apartment
Tee was held at gunpoint and forced to open the safe

THE END OF AN ERA

Big Deb was a hustler from Madison Avenue
On August 16th 1991 Fritz passed away following an illness
Two days later Tee gave birth to a baby girl
After Fritz died, another individual took control of his operation
The trio decided to join forces and do their own thing
Unfortunately in 1992 Hen Dog was shot and killed
Tee was deeply saddened by his death
The judge sentenced him to 20 years to life

CHAPTER BABY J

Maine grew up in the Abraham Lincoln Houses
The Abraham Lincoln Houses is a public-housing complex in East Harlem
In the mid 80's a guy named Hector introduced him to the drug game
Hector had a spot on 131st Street Madison Avenue in Harlem
Hector was associated with a Puerto Rican crack kingpin named Daddy
Boogie is Maine's older cousin
In 1988 Hector was shot and killed in Washington DC
Maine was dating Tee's little sister
From 1986 to 1997 Maine was in and out of prison

DEATH AROUND THE CORNER

Fifty was a notorious figure from Tee's block on 134th Street
In July 1994 a man named Mike Wolf was shot dead in Harlem
He was allegedly affiliated to The Lynch Mob
A day later Tee was walking home
The front of Fifty's shirt was stained with blood from a gunshot wound
Tee tried to run across the street to escape from the gunfire
The shooters were allegedly associates of The Lynch Mob
In 1995 10 members of the Lynch Mob were indicted under the federal RICO act
The defendants were charged with 15 murders and 9 attempted murders

Fifty was one of the murder victims named in the indictment
