Short Horror Stories

This is a collection of short stories which involves mass murder by a mad man who hides in the dark woods, waiting to slaughter his victims by spilling their blood in horrific ways. Then there is the boy that sees people getting killed by a vampire in his sleep thinking it is only a dream only to realise that it real and he has to come face to face with the vampire to save the love of his life along with his best friend. Also the group of friends who use a Ouiji board in a graveyard I 1955 only to bring back an evil spirit who possesses his friend who gets revenge on some people who done him wrong. Also the young man who attacks a pimp who is beating up his hooker, only for the both of them to run further into the city of Glasgow only to get found and chased into the town of Largs by the pimp and his posse to end in a satisfying climax. Also more stories of murder, suspense and plenty of fear.

Blood Related

BLOOD RELATED is a chilling Psychological Thriller that will leave you gasping for more For over two decades, Detective Ray Truman has been searching for the killer or killers terrorizing Portvale. Headless mutilated corpses have been turning up all over the industrial district. Young female prostitutes have been the killer's victims of choice, but now other districts are reporting similar gruesome discoveries of decapitated bodies. This horrifically disturbing tale of a family tree of evil will embed itself in the mind of the reader, long after the last page has been turned. A psychological crime novel in the vein of other power-packed thrillers like Thomas Harris's 'Silence of the Lambs,' James Patterson's Alex Cross series and James Ellroy's 'Killer on the Road.' Meet the Cunninghams . . . A family bound by evil and the blood they have spilled. The large lodging-house they live in reeks of death and the sins that remain trapped beneath the floorboards. Meet Caleb Cunningham . . . Caleb is a disturbed young man whose disturbing fantasy-life becomes reality after the suicide of his father. His identical twin brother Charlie is to be released from an asylum and all hell is about to break loose when the brothers combine their psychopathic talents. Eventually stepping out from the shadows of his murderous forebears, Caleb puts in motion his own diabolical plan to reveal himself and his 'art' to the world. Meet Ray Truman . . . Overworked and underpaid, Truman is tenacious as a pit-bull. He won't rest 'til he's brought to justice Portvale's infamous serial killer. His battle with his own demons gives him the strength to chase the shadows and to cut corners when necessary, as he embarks on the hunt of his life. His search leads him to the Cunningham's house of horrors. What he finds there will ultimately lead him to regret ever meeting Caleb Cunningham and the deviant family that spawned him. The hunter becomes the hunted as Truman digs deeper into the abyss that is the horrifying mind of the most dangerous psychopath he has ever met. Warning: R18+ contains adult content + graphic violence & psychological horror. "William Cook tells a gruesome story with a sense of authenticity that makes you question with considerable unease if it really is fiction, after all." - Graham Masterton, author of The Manitou and Descendant "This man is simply scary. There is both a clinical thoroughness and a heartfelt emotional thoroughness to his writing. He manages to shock as well as empathize, to scare as well as acclimatize, yet beneath it all is a well read intelligence that demands to be engaged. I loved Blood Related. Ordinarily I hate serial killer stories, but William Cook won me over. He is a unique and innovative talent." - Joe McKinney, Bram Stoker Award-winning author of Flesh Eaters and Dog Days "BLOOD RELATED is a terrifying Psychological Thriller. William Cook is an author to watch." - Mark Edward Hall, best-selling author of Apocalypse Island and the Blue Light Thriller series. "Dark and deeply disturbing." - Jonathan Nasaw, acclaimed author of thrillers, The Girls He Adored and The Boys From Santa Cruz thriller, psychological thriller, crime fiction, noir, mystery detective, serial killer fiction

Bloody Legends

From the author of 'CROWLEY'S CULT' (a New Apple Book Awards OFFICIAL SELECTION!), and 'BLOODY PUZZLE'. Are you afraid of urban legends? Prepare to be even more scared when they become real! Dr. Daniel Cooper is a vicious serial killer who finds himself bored with killing only prostitutes and homeless people. In order to indulge his most morbid and sadistic fantasies, he decides he'll start to perpetrate his crimes by staging famous urban legends. His insatiable hunger for killing makes him plan every murder with extreme cruelty, to make every death as gruesome and gory as possible. Is it possible that urban legends could inspire such macabre crimes? Daniel's hubris and wit lead him into a dangerous confrontation with two detectives who are investigating the dreadful crimes, and are running out of time to stop the frenzied killing. How many innocent victims will die before the detectives can figure out who the killer is? Even the most avid horror reader won't be able to predict the astonishingly scary conclusion! REVISED EDITION. This edition incorporates major editorial revisions, but there are no plot changes to the original story. The Bloody Series will be made up of three books, plus a prequel, each containing a stand-alone story with no major cliffhangers. However, since it is a series, for the best reading experience and to avoid spoilers this is the recommended order to read the stories in: Bloody Origin – Prequel Bloody Legends – Book 1 Bloody Puzzle – Book 2 Bloody Hunt – Book 3 WARNING: These stories contain extreme violence against people and animals, vulgar language, sex, and graphic murders.

Daniel is back, and he's more evil than EVER! Oakville is in another panic! The most hideous serial killer the city has ever known has returned with a new theme. The murders are more violent. The deaths are more gruesome. Where will it all end? Follow the clues that Daniel leaves at each crime scene, and try to unravel the Bloody Puzzle along with the perplexed detectives hot on his trail. Are you ready for an insane new spree of blood and gore? The Bloody Series will be made up of three books, plus a prequel, each containing a stand-alone story with no major cliffhangers. However, since it is a series, for the best reading experience and to avoid spoilers this is the recommended order to read the stories in: Bloody Origin – Prequel Bloody Legends – Book 1 Bloody Puzzle – Book 2 Bloody Hunt – Book 3 WARNING: These stories contain extreme violence against people and animals, vulgar language, sex, and graphic murders.

The Trail of the Cloven Hoof

This is #7 in the Dancing Tuatara Press series of obscure horror tales. Written by Arlton Eadie in 1935, it's a classic of the genre, and has a colorful history, as detailed by John Pelan in the introduction. This is not the heavily-edited, serialized version of the novel; it's the full-length text as originally written by Arlton Eadie.

Blood Lines

'I think you know who killed your stepfather', said Wexford, and so begins this scintillating collection of long and short stories by the world's best living crime writer, Ruth Rendell. It was clear both to Wexford and Burden that Tom Peterlee was not killed for £360, but various people would have liked them to believe the lie. It is a case which reminds the Chief Inspector that there is only a thin line dividing the policeman from the criminal. The criminal impulse may be present in the most routine or intimate situation. The book ends with The Strawberry Tree, a disturbingly evocative novella-length tale of lost innocence, set on the island of Majorca. It is a triumphant conclusion to a collection of horror stories that linger in the mind.

Six Spooky Short Stories

SIX SPOOKY SHORT STORIES: Ghost Brother... What happens after you die? Do you go to heaven or hell, or do you go to a special place fashioned for you based on the life you'd lived? Do ghosts exist? Two brothers and their tale follow; their journey through life and death. Running with the Train... Sarah has always been lonely; searching for a love she's begun to believe will never come. True, eternal love. On an adventure of a lifetime to the Grand Canyon she rides the train from Williams to the Rim and sees these huge wolves running alongside in the evening twilight; scurrying unbelievably below on the Canyon's ledges among the trees. Has her loneliness made her crazy? The Banshee and the Witch... What would you do to live forever, stay young forever? To find true love again? If you were a white witch with the powers to make it happen, and the secret of how to do it, would you? When the banshee comes calling one rainy dark night you'll do what you must to get what you desire most. More time. Too Close to the Edge... Artist Penelope had been looking forward to going to see the Grand Canyon...even though she was terrified of heights and, when she got there, couldn't bear to get too close to the edge. She sees a young girl go over the rim and no one believes her. There was no child that had died—that day anyway. AND TWO BONUS SHORT STORIES: *In This House...*an eternal love ghost story *Night Carnival...*a vampire tale

The Islington Mystery

"The Islington Mystery" is a classic horror mystery story by one of the modern masters of supernatural and horror fiction, Arthur Machan. Arthur Machen (1863 - 1947) was a Welsh author and renowned mystic during the 1890s and early 20th century who garnered literary acclaim for his contributions to the supernatural, horror, and fantasy fiction genres. His seminal novella "The Great God Pan" (1890) has become a classic of horror fiction, with Stephen King describing it as one of the best horror stories ever written in the English language. Other notable fans of his gruesome tales include William Butler Yeats and Arthur Conan Doyle; and his work has been compared to that of Robert Louis Stevenson, Bram Stoker, and Oscar Wilde. This chilling tale of inexplicable circumstances in London's borough of Islington is highly recommended for fans of the macabre and is not to be missed by collectors of vintage supernatural fiction. Many vintage books such as this are increasingly scarce and expensive. It is with this in mind that we are republishing this volume now in an affordable, modern, high-quality edition complete with a specially-commissioned new biography of the author.

Clive Barker's Books of Blood 1-3

Rediscover the true meaning of fear in this collection of horror stories from New York Times bestselling author Clive Barker. "The most provocative tales of terror ever published."—The Washington Post Everybody is a book of blood; wherever we're opened, we're red... With the publication of Books of Blood, Clive Barker became an overnight literary sensation. His tour de force collection of brilliantly disturbing tales demonstrated a genius for dark invention that rivaled Poe and Sade. He was hailed by Stephen King as "the future of horror," and won both the British and World Fantasy Awards. Now, with his numerous bestsellers, graphic novels, and hit movies like the Hellraiser films, Clive Barker has become an industry unto himself. It is his powerful writing style and arresting imagery that have made Books of Blood a classic—and Clive Barker a cult phenomenon.

Blood Trail

A gripping read from C.J. Box, author of the Joe Pickett and Cassie Dewell series, now adapted into the hit TV shows Joe Pickett and Big Sky. It's elk season in the Rockies, but this year one hunter is stalking a different kind of prey. When the call comes in on the radio, Wyoming Game Warden Joe Pickett can hardly believe his ears: game wardens have found a hunter dead at a camp in the mountains: strung up, gutted, skinned, and beheaded, as if he were the elk he'd been pursuing. A spent cartridge and a poker chip lie next to his body. Ripples of horror spread through the community, and with a possibly psychotic killer on the loose, Governor Rulon is forced to end hunting season early for the first time in state history, outraging hunters and potentially crippling the state's income from the loss of hunting licence revenue. But when the brutal murders eerily coincide with the arrival of radical anti-hunting activist Klamath Moore, Pickett knows the Governor's ruling is the least of his worries. Are the murders the work of a deranged activist or of a lone psychopath with a personal vendetta? As always, Joe Pickett is the governor's go-to man, and he's put on the case to track the murderous hunter, as more bodies - and poker chips - turn up. Reviews for Blood Trail 'Box knows what readers expect and delivers it with a flourish.' Cleveland Plains-Dealer 'Writing beautifully about the Mountain West and its people.' Publishers Weekly 'Writing genius...on a par with...James Lee Burke...' Library Journal

The Devil in Gray

In a town where Confederate blood still flows, a serial killer is on the loose—one so evil he's no longer human. America's Civil War left wounds on the land that bled for over a century—and perhaps something even more terrible that will never heal. A man on the edge, haunted by a recent personal tragedy, homicide detective Martin Decker has been assigned to investigate a bizarre series of gruesome and seemingly random mutilation murders plaguing Richmond, Virginia. A serial killer is somehow finding his way into locked rooms to butcher his victims before vanishing without a trace, and the only witness is a young woman with Down syndrome who claims to have seen the man responsible for the horrific carnage. But the bloody trail is leading Decker to a place where his sanity will be sorely tested—and where pure evil has given rise to an unstoppable nightmare of terror and death. This gripping masterwork of horror fiction from Graham Masterton, the award-winning author of The Manitou, takes horror to a breathtaking new level. A story not for the faint of heart, The Devil in Gray is a stunningly original tale of terror, one of the very best, from an acknowledged giant of the genre.

Clive Barker's Books of Blood: Volume One (Movie Tie-In)

THE INSPIRATION FOR THE HULU ORIGINAL FILM Rediscover the true meaning of fear in this collection of horror stories from Clive Barker, New York Times bestselling author and creator of the Hellraiser series. Everybody is a book of blood; wherever we're opened, we're red. In this tour de force collection of brilliantly disturbing tales, Clive Barker combines the extraordinary with the ordinary, bringing to life our darkest nightmares with stories that both seduce and devour. As beautiful as they are terrible, the pages of this volume are stained with unsettling imagery, macabre humor, and visceral dread. Here then are the stories written on the Book of Blood. Read, if it pleases you, and learn.... This Volume includes: "The Book of Blood" • "The Midnight Meat Train" • "The Yattering and Jack" • "Pig Blood Blues" • "Sex, Death and Starshine" • "In the Hills, the Cities"

The Novel of the White Powder

"The Novel of the White Powder" is a short story by Welsh author Arthur Machan, first published in his novel "The Three Imposters" (1895). The story concerns a man whose behaviour alters dramatically as the result a change in his prescription. However, even though some of these changes are indubitably for the better, his sister remains sceptical—and with good reason. Arthur Machen (1863 – 1947) was a Welsh author and renowned mystic during the 1890s and early 20th century who garnered literary acclaim for his contributions to the supernatural, horror, and fantasy fiction genres. His seminal novella "The Great God Pan" (1890) has become a classic of horror fiction, with Stephen King describing it as one of the best horror stories ever written in the English language. The Fearsome Touch of Death

Robert Ervin Howard was an American pulp writer and is especially noted for his memorable depictions of ""a sombre universe of swashbuckling adventure and darkling horror."" He is well known for having created the character Conan the Barbarian. This collection includes Howard's short horror and fantasy stories, including the masterpiece "Pigeons from Hell," which Stephen King calls "one of the finest horror stories of century," a tale of two travelers who stumble upon the ruins of a Southern plantation-and into the maw of its fatal secret. In "Black Canaan" even the best warrior has little chance of taking down the evil voodoo man with unholy powers-and none at all against his wily mistress, the diabolical High Priestess of Damballah. In these and other lavishly illustrated classics, such as the nightmare "The Cairn on the Headland," Howard spins tales of unrelenting terror, the legacy of one of the world's great masters of the macabre.

Raining Blood Or Scare - A Slasher Novel (the Castle Peak Murders, Book Two) - New Limited Edition Includes 2 Bonus Horror Short Stories

On Friday, June 13th, two young women are brutally butchered in the darkness of Drishmore Woods on the outskirts of the small town of Castle Peak. A year later another young woman, Skyler Taylor, begins to receive menacing phone calls from the killer. Soon he is stalking her and vowing to kill her slowly and painfully. But first, he tells her, he will kill all her friends. Meanwhile, a jealous and jilted lover begins to become unhinged and plans bloody revenge. Two killers with two separate but equally brutal agendas, a small town, and a host of victims. Things build to a nail-biting climax as a violent storm begins to brew. On this blood-soaked night, in the small town of Castle Peak, it is going to start RAINING BLOOD. Originally written when the author was only 17 and revised and updated in this new edition, this is a thrilling slice of slasher fiction. This new limited edition also includes two horror short stories, SNOWDOMED and CARNIVAL CONVALESCENCE, collected here in print for the first time.

Books of Blood

The Books of Blood combine the ordinary with the extraordinary while radiating the eroticism that has become Barker's signature. Weaving tales of the everyday world transformed into an unrecognizable place, where reason no longer exists and logic ceases to explain the workings of the universe, Clive Barker provides the stuff of nightmares in packages too tantalizing to resist. Never one to shy away from the unimaginable or the unspeakable, Clive Barker breathes life into our deepest, darkest nightmares, creating visions that are at once terrifying, tender and witty. The Books of Blood confirm what horror fans everywhere have known for a long time: We will be hearing from Clive Barker for many years to come. In this, the sixth and final volume of Clive Barker's Books of Blood, with a new introduction by Mark Miller, five new stories of darkness are unleashed: "The Life of Death"—Hidden in the crypt of a derelict church she found decay and corruption in its terrible glory. But such glamour can prove infectious... "How Spoilers Bleed"—They committed a crime no jury could convict them for. But there were other judges... other punishments... "Twilight at the Towers"—Ballard was the perfect spy. A man with all the cunning of an animal. Or was it vice-versa? "The Last Illusion"—(A Harry D'Amour novella)—New York had shown Harry horrors enough for a dozen lifetimes. He thought he'd seen the worst that flesh could suffer. Then the beautiful widow walked into his life, with a husband who wouldn't lie down dead, and all Hell on her heels. And suddenly Harry was face to face with forces that could teach Manhattan a lesson in depravity. "On Jerusalem Street"—(a postscript)—After the end, a new beginning: walking the highway of the dead...

Horror Anthology

"Disturbing Real-life Horror Collection" Do you love a good horror story? Well, welcome to the dark world where death and fear are lurking around every corner, waiting to strike when you least expect it. Oh, and please keep the lights on because these stories are all true! Here's a harrowing array of spine-chilling stories that will make your heart race nonstop. This book is full of twists and turns, dark corners, edge of your seat suspense and devilish plots that get your blood pumping. "Horror Anthology" contains nineteen short stories of terrifying real tales of horror. Author Ann Gaiman wrote with exceptional articulation and clarity in the book, spinning out dark but real tales that will make you sit on the edge of their seat. Excerpt from the book: Not only was it all done by a single person, this person also happened to be a highly educated historian. Many other academics knew of him, who mostly studied the folklore and history of the Celts along with linguistics and languages. His personal library contained numerous academic documents and a large and intriguing doll collection. The investigators of the case found 26 corpses of young females between the ages of 10 and 25. The man was also accused of desecrating over 150 graves. The corpses looked like real dolls and were mummified. Not only did he dress and put wigs on them, he also applied wax and makeup to their dead faces. He would then throw parties for the corpses that he referred to as his "girls." An even more macabre touch was that he would put music boxes inside the rib cages of some of the more beloved dolls. Cold Blood III

The third in the Cold Blood series. The best collection of crime/mystery short stories by the finest internationally acclaimed writers in the genre from the United States, Britain and Canada.

Splinter in the Blood

'Compelling, clever. Packed with macabre and fascinating forensic details. A stunning debut' Mo Hayder After months of hunting a ruthless murderer that the press has dubbed the Thorn Killer, Detective Carver is shot in his own home. His trusted partner, Ruth Lake, is alone with him. Yet instead of calling for help, she wipes the room clean of prints. But Carver isn't dead. Awakening in hospital, he has no memory of being shot, but is certain that his assailant is the Thorn Killer. Though there's no evidence to support his claim, Carver insists the attack is an attempt to scare him off the psychopath's scent. One person knows the truth and she's not talking. She's also now leading the Thorn Killer investigation while Carver recuperates. But Ruth is keeping a deadly secret, and she'll cross every line - sacrificing her colleagues, her career, and maybe even her own life - to keep it from surfacing. 'A taut and compelling thriller, as sharp as the thorns that feature in the plot' Ann Cleeves

Got to Kill Them All & Other Stories [eBook - Biblioboard]

GOT TO KILL THEM ALL & OTHER STORIES by Dennis Etchison Introduction by George Clayton Johnson An author's choice collection of 18 dark, powerful tales that deserves a place in any library of horror classics. "Dennis Etchison's best short stories are a bracing draft of dark whiskey: dense, bitter, meant to be sipped." — New York Times "I feel it is the critic's duty to note his brilliance and to call attention to his miraculous existence. If you are one who cares about these matters, join me in recommending Got To Kill Them All & Other Stories to a wider audience." (from the Introduction by George Clayton Johnson) "This volume collects stories that might be called ruthless, cold or even cruel. Yet I do not believe they are heartless. I prefer the word 'unflinching'..." (from the Foreword by Dennis Etchison) "This collection, spanning 40 years of World Fantasy Award-winner Etchison's career, delves deep into personal terrors... The title story caps off the collection with a brutally exquisite showing of what Etchison does best: creating a tone and wielding it like an edged weapon." — Publisher's Weekly "Dennis Etchison is an A-1, first-class writer!" — Ray Bradbury "The finest writer of psychological horror this genre has produced." — Karl Edward Wagner.

And a Dark Horse Dreamt of Nightmares

A collection of strange tales for those who like horror, the supernatural, and science fiction. These six short stories explore some classic themes in contemporary settings. All have a dark vibe which creates the overall tone of the collection. The book opens with 'The Sable Lane Catering Company' which puts blood, gore, and terror immediately on the menu with a snapshot of a serial killer serving up something special for his sadistic clientele. Next up is a pure 80s horror homage, with 'John: Carpenter' giving a direct nod to the movie director's catalogue of work. 'Skullcherry Orchard' sees a paranormal investigation take a turn for the worst in rural North West England. It's a traditional ghost story given a contemporary flavour. Story number four is rooted in the occult practices of the Nazi regime circa WWII and proves a terrifying and tragic turn of events for those who want to know just 'What's In The Box?' No book of dark tales could be complete without a reworking of the time-honoured vampire saga, and 'Mother Rain and Father Wolf' does just that. Presented as a warning to those who would meddle in the truth which lies behind a mythology, it chronicles age-old revenge on the Church. Lastly, 'Floor 9' is a sci-fi piece which is quite simply designed to mess with your head. It has a split narrative and is a tad on the trippy side, and hopefully just good fun.
