The only reliable basis for sound government and just human relations is Natural Law.

Without religion the government of a free people cannot be maintained.

All things were created by God, therefore upon him all mankind are equally dependent, and to him they are equally responsible.

The proper role of government is to protect equal rights, not provide equal things.

Mankind are endowed by God with certain unalienable rights.

The God-given right to govern is vested in the sovereign authority of the whole people.

the United States of America shall be a republic.

The government should be separated into three branches.

A system of checks and balances should be adopted to prevent the abuse of power by the different branches of government.

Only limited and carefully defined powers should be delegated to government, all others being retained by the people.

A free society cannot survive as a republic without a broad program of general education.

"Peace, commerce, and honest friendship with all nations -- entangling alliances with none."- Thomas Jefferson, given in his first inaugural address.

The United States has a manifest destiny to eventually become a glorious example of God's law under a restored Constitution that will inspire the entire human race.
