This is the story of a young boy, Julius W. (Jay) Mirza, born into a Christian Assyrian Family, living in a Muslim nation, who emigrates from Iran. He and his little brother must leave the bosom of their loving family to seek an education in a foreign country in order to live a better life – a life of both personal responsibility and freedom. He must enter a British boy's school in India, without any knowledge of the English language. He will not see his family but once in six years. After graduation, his education takes him first to England, then America, where he graduates with a degree in Architectural Engineering. The heart wrenching sacrifices of his parents for their son's education finds full reward in Jay's success in life – his architectural practice—his family, his home and his community involvement. This is a story of an immigrant to America for whom, with hard work and dedication, the American dream came true.

Intro

DHEA is hormone. It begins to decline at about age 25.

At age 60 or 70, DHEA production has declined by about 90%.

DHEA is linked with immune health, metabolic health, memory, and cognition.

After menopause, adrenals become the sole source of androgens in the body.

Consider taking DHEA before trying hormone replacement therapy.

Active DHEA is made by your adrenals. It is in equilibrium with DHEA-S (DHEA-sulfate).

Metabolites adhere to a circadian rhythm. Be consistent about bloodwork timing.

DHEA gets converted to 4-dione, then, through aromatization, into estrogen.

Low DHEA sulfate levels are linked with higher mortality and disease.

DHEA supplementation in incorrect doses can accelerate hair loss and increase estrogen.

Dosing Men: 10 mg/ 10 years of life. Pay attention to your body's feedback.

Dosing Women: 75% less than men. 10 mg/ 10 years of life multiplied by .25 (25%)

Micronized DHEA may be a little better absorbed. Transdermal is not necessary.

Women with PCOS should not take DHEA.

Insulin drives androgens in women. Spironolactone, a med taken for PCOS, is an antiandrogen.

Work with your doctor. Test your DHEA sulfate blood levels.

Low doses of estrogen has benefits for men in their cognition, brain function and mental health.
