I Can Depend on Me

I Can Depend on Me shares the struggle and pain of feeling excluded, feeling invisible and feeling powerless. It is a book which challenges us to question and to examine our educational system to ensure that we are not only shaping minds, but also nurturing young spirits. SharRon's faith in God and her commitment to achieve despite insurmountable odds confirms that we too can overcome struggles, obstacles and negativity. I Can Depend on Me takes us on a journey from trial to triumph and provides a blueprint for all us to start our own journeys of healing and empowerment.

All My Springs

All My Springs: Journey of a Lifetime In All My Springs: Journey of a Lifetime, author Carol L. Evans invites readers to share a life (her life) that like spring itself is constantly being renewed and reborn. This lovely and lively collection of personal essays, short stories and poems will quickly compel readers to find a comfortable chair and quiet time to savor the newness of Evans writing. The writing is mature, but not stale. It is skilled, yet extremely poetic. Her short story, The Little House in the Cul de Sac, is a beautiful, yet disturbing tale of mental illness. In it, the narrator deftly unfolds a poignant modern-day tale of a deeply troubled mind wrestling with reality and normalcy. By Jennifer D. King Author/Turning My Face To The Sun 1st Place Winner in 2006 Write On! Senior Creative Writing Contest An essay about Hurricane Katrina victims cast as slaves is masterful as Katrina: The Ghosts of 1865. Peggy Stinnett, former writer of the Oakland Tribune.

Writing About Me

A strong sense of character and positive self-esteem are key ingredients to a student's success in school and in life. Writing About Me gives your students a real chance to develop and reinforce 38 all-important attributes, while simultaneously improving their writing skills. Each page presents a specific attribute, such as "honesty" or "responsibility," to stimulate group discussion. To help students further understand these characteristics and how they apply to their daily lives, a series of fun and relevant writing activities are included to help students focus on their individual and collective attributes.

Older Adults' Views on Death

This empirically-based study of older adults ranging in age from 70-90 years examines the influence of family relations, religious beliefs, age-related health changes, culture, and more on personal meanings of death, fears of death, and views of the dying process. Gerontologists will gain a more realistic understanding of all of the factors influencing an older individual's view of death and the dying process. These views impact the development of both effective interventions to provide appropriate emotional support and coping strategies to help persons deal with fears of approaching death.

You Can Depend on Me

Why would Almighty God need somebody? What would the Lord require of you? What is it that God cannot do for Himself? What is it that God cannot achieve by Himself? God is looking for somebody who will stand between Him and man. God is looking for someone to answer the questions of the little ones! God is looking for someone to deliver the children who are far from safety! The Bible says God sought for a man...! Through this heart-warming book, your desire to be a willing vessel in God's hand will be kindled! You will no longer be satisfied with being a simple member. You will become a helper! You will say like the famous song writer, "Lord, I know you need somebody! You can depend on me!".

The Art of Fire Emblem: Awakening

There is a paradoxical yet paradigmatic approach to pastoring. On one hand, we experience the mountaintop moments of joy. On the other hand, we travel the dismal dark valley of pain, frustration, and disappointment. We often struggle with the bipolarization regarding the very essence and nature of our work. Yet there is a yearning in the soul of every pastor to hear from the greatest pastor that ever lived and the one we must give an account to for our work. Amid the many struggles of pastoral practice and process, Dr. Edward B. Saxon provides pastors with reflective insights from the chief shepherd, Jesus Christ, to accomplish the herculean task.

Dictionary of spoken Chinese

This book is all about sharing what I've heard from God about His character. It's about introducing the significance and a means of knowing who God really is and doing away with all the assumptions, logic, opinions, and unrealistic expectations that we have about God. All these things do is create disappointment and frustration. Knowing the enemies lies from God's Truth is housed at the point of knowing who you're dealing with – knowing His character. God made you and I for a purpose that cannot be fulfilled without Him. We know we have a purpose and a reason for being here, but we cannot discover that apart from knowing and trusting the One we came from. None of us trust and rely on people that we don't know. The best way for us to find out who He is and who we are is to go to the Source.

This book explains the effects of war and armed conflict on individual children and their family system, and how culturally responsive social work practice should take into account the diversity and heterogeneity of their needs and lived experiences. Unpacking social work practice with children and families affected by war and migration, the volume provides a valuable toolkit for practitioners, educators, researchers, and service-providers that work with war-affected populations around the globe. The contributions suggest that fostering a family approach, allotting careful attention to context and culture, and linking the arts and participation with social work practice, can all be vital to enhancing the research, education, and practice around working with children and families affected by armed conflict. Providing a critical reflection of social work education and practice, this book will be of interest to practitioners in the field of social work, as well as researchers studying the social effects of migration. This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Family Social Work.

Different from a dictionary, the lexicon brings together words with related meanings and lists them in sets, instead of listing words in alphabetical order. These sets of words are organized according to meaning areas, and each word in a set has its own definition and examples. In addition, the lexicon provides detailed grammatical information and guidance on style.
