INTRODUCTION

The primary kin is the person who is related to ego directly.

Secondary kin is the kin related to ego through a primary kin.

Tertiary kin is the person who is related to ego through a secondary kin.

First, they classify particular kinds of persons into single specific categories.

LANGUAGE OF KINSHIP TERMS

KINSHIP TERMINOLOGY, AND GLOBAL, TAXONOMY ...

The classificatory and descriptive systems of kinship terms.

Generational, Bifurcate merging, Bifurcate collateral and Lineal types of kinship terminological systems

The same thing happens with the other side of the family; the mother, her sister cousins on her side, and so on, are mothers.

Dakota type of nomenclature

The general system of Hawaiian type merges the three genealogical kintypes F, FB, MB under a single term and kins such as FZD, MBD, FBD, MZD, Z under one kin term.

Bifurcate merging systems of Iroquois, Omaha and Crow types, merge the father and father's brother under a single term but employ a different term for mother's brother.

First, the difference was purely lexical. Classificatory terminologies consist simple phrases only.

Third, the contrast bears a sense of dispersion of blood line.
