Introduction to Keith

Breeders are very interested in research, delving into maintaining pregnancy. I understand that equine reproduction is quite unique. Can you explain what's so different about the EQUINE embryo?

I was amazed to hear samples from embryonic losses in 2008 are proving useful in studies as recent as last years at the OVC. As a researcher who has seen technologies and research in EQUINE reproduction evolve, can you speak to the value of long term studies you have been involved in? How does RNA sequencing help researchers understand what is normal and what is not when it comes to the 'dialogue' between a mare and her embryo?

What opportunities has conducting research at the University of Guelph afforded, and what's next? Thank you. Dr Betteridge, is there anything you'd like to sum up or mention in closing?
