Journal of the Constitutional Convention of the State of Illinois

Illinois' sixth Constitutional Convention convened in Springfield on Dec. 8, 1969. A total of 116 members - two elected from each senatorial district - met at a nonpartisan convention to revise, alter or amend the 1870 Illinois Constitution. After nine months of in-depth study and debate, the members presented their work product to the people - a constitution they considered to be workable for 25 years, 50 years - or as in the case of the 1870 Constitution - 100 years.

Preparing for the Illinois Constitutional Convention, June, 1969

Excerpt from The Proposed New Constitution for Illinois to Be Voted Upon December 12, 1922 The Constitutional Convention in submitting the proposed new constitution to the people says It is not to be pretended that the instrument is perfect, or even that it represents all the hopes and wishes of any one man or of any group of men. It is, as was the Federal Constitution and as all such measures must be, the result of compromise. The address of the Convention also says that the only question to be answered is: Does the proposed new Constitution, on the whole and in view of the needs of all of the people of the whole state, promise better governmental conditions than the present Constitution? The Federalist Papers Classic Books Library presents this brand new edition of “The Federalist Papers”, a collection of separate essays and articles compiled in 1788 by Alexander Hamilton. Following the United States Declaration of Independence in 1776, the governing doctrines and policies of the States lacked cohesion. “The Federalist”, as it was previously known, was constructed by American statesman Alexander Hamilton, and was intended to catalyse the ratification of the United States Constitution. Hamilton recruited fellow statesmen James Madison Jr., and John Jay to write papers for the compendium, and the three are known as some of the Founding Fathers of the United States. Alexander Hamilton (c. 1755–1804) was an American lawyer, journalist and highly influential government official. He also served as a Senior Officer in the Army between 1799-1800 and founded the Federalist Party, the system that governed the nation’s finances. His contributions to the Constitution and leadership made a significant and lasting impact on the early development of the nation of the United States.

The decline of statism as the world's dominant ideology has ignited a fierce debate over the evolving shape and power of federalism in global society. The popular demand for devolution has shifted the locus of power from national government to smaller regional units and heralded the reconceptualization of international law away from the idea of sovereignty, toward one of jurisdiction. This timely set of essays studies the impact wrought by these centrifugal forces across Europe, Africa, and the Americas, and analyzes the latest movements for constitutional change, self-determination, and separation. Comparative Federalism in the Devolution Era offers political scientists and legal scholars a new perspective on the diverse nature and exercise of postmodern federalism, and the continuing struggle between differing views of the national-local relationship.

Introduction

Regarding pollen substitutes, what are your thoughts on Hive Alive Pollen Patties this time of year? You said you are only going to use Apimaye Deeps in the future, can you elaborate?

With your QMP uses, would there be a queen present in the cluster of bees that gather on that?

In your pollen trap comparison you mentioned sending your pollen off for testing, did you receive the results?

I'm trying to figure out when to have splits done so they can build up and have a large honey crop. Any pointers?

You mentioned about no longer using Queen Excluders. I would like to explore not using a Queen Excluder.
