I had EMDR therapy. The first sessions helped me understand that the way I thought about myself was a result of past experiences.
EMDR Therapy helped me to process some of the horrendous things from my past.
As we worked through old memories related to my phobia. it was like my fear button started to get switched off.
As I processed what happened to me that night, the images became less vivid
With EMDR I started to leave the past behind.
I began managing situations differently, and I felt the old me coming back.
