20th-century Photography

Images of the century (TASCHEN's 25th anniversary special edition) The history of photography began some 150 years ago, but only relatively recently has it been fully recognised as a medium in its own right. Cologne's Museum Ludwig was the first museum of contemporary art to devote a substantial section to international photography. The L. Fritz Gruber collection, from which this book is drawn, is one of the most important in Germany and one of the most representative anywhere in the world, constituting the core of the museum's holdings. This book provides a fascinating insight into the collection's rich diversity; from conceptual art to abstraction to reportage, all of the major movements and genres are represented via a vast selection of the century's most remarkable photographs. From Ansel Adams to Piet Zwart, over 850 works are presented in alphabetical order by photographer, with descriptive texts and photographers' biographical details.

The Encyclopedia of Twentieth-Century Photography explores the vast international scope of twentieth-century photography and explains that history with a wide-ranging, interdisciplinary manner. This unique approach covers the aesthetic history of photography as an evolving art and documentary form, while also recognizing it as a developing technology and cultural force. This Encyclopedia presents the important developments, movements, photographers, photographic institutions, and theoretical aspects of the field along with information about equipment, techniques, and practical applications of photography. To bring this history alive for the reader, the set is illustrated in black and white throughout, and each volume contains a color plate section. A useful glossary of terms is also included.

'Camera Works' is about the impact of photography and film on modern art and literature. With examples from the avant-garde of the little magazines and from classic authors like Fitzgerald and Hemingway, it argues that literature and art become modern by responding to these new means of representation.

Encyclopedia of Twentieth-Century Photography, 3-Volume Set

Examines how these photojournalists, all of whom left their native country to work in Europe and America, established Hungary as a crucible of photography and explores the influence of their vision and originality on other photographers.

Camera Works

The exhibition catalogue Modern Times. Photography in the 20th Century, sketches the spectacular and rampant growth of photography in the twentieth century, based on over 300 highlights from the Rijksmuseum's photography collection. The book presents an overview of twentieth century photography in all its facets, from pure documentary to autonomous art. Rijksmuseum Amsterdam, 1.11.2014-11.1.2015.

Eyewitness

Throughout Germany's tumultuous twentieth century, photography was an indispensable form of documentation. Whether acting as artists, witnesses, or reformers, both professional and amateur photographers chronicled social worlds through successive periods of radical upheaval. The Ethics of Seeing brings together an international group of scholars to explore the complex relationship between the visual and the historic in German history. Emphasizing the transformation of the visual arena and the ways in which ordinary people made sense of world events, these revealing case studies illustrate photography's multilayered role as a new form of representation, a means to subjective experience, and a fresh mode of narrating the past.

Modern Times

A collection of photographs by some of the most influential photographers of the twentieth century which demonstrate the wide range of techniques that have been used by photographers during the past one hundred years.

Encyclopedia of Twentieth-century Photography

Photography and Literature in the Twentieth-Century offers an accessible and fresh approach to an object of interdisciplinary research that is currently receiving increased international attention. Providing a broad historical schema, and examining pivotal moments within it, the collection brings together a range of writers and practitioners who help to guide the reader through a historical cross-section of current work in this area. Unlike most existing studies, this volume considers both key literary figures, from Proust to Sebald, and photographic practitioners, from Heartfield to Sekula, in order to give a commanding overview of its subject that is both well-informed and often ground-breaking. With original and accessible essays by acknowledged experts in the field, this is a book that should be of interest not only to students and teachers in departments of literature and photography, but also to those in cultural studies and art history, as well as photographic artists.

Encyclopedia of Twentieth-Century Photography

With the advent of digital imaging, the era of traditional color photography is coming to an end. Yet more than 150 years after the invention of color photography, museums, archives, and personal collections are full of images to be cherished, studied, and preserved. These photographs, often made with processes and materials no longer used or easily identified, constitute an important part of the cultural and artistic heritage of the twentieth century. Today it is more important than ever to capture the technical understanding of the processes that created these irreplaceable images. In providing an accessible overview of the history and technology of the major traditional color photographic processes, this abundantly illustrated volume promises to become the standard reference in its field. Following an introductory chapter on color photography in the nineteenth century, seven uniformly structured chapters discuss the most commercially or historically significant processes of the twentieth century--additive color screen, pigment, dye imbibition, dye coupling, dye destruction, dye diffusion, and dye mordanting and silver toning--offering readers a user-friendly guide to materials, methods of identification, and common kinds of deterioration. A final chapter presents specific guidelines for collection management, storage, and preservation. There is also a glossary of technical terms, along with appendixes presenting detailed chronologies for Kodachrome and Ektachrome transparencies, Cibachrome/Ilfochrome printing materials, and Instant films. This book will interest instructors and students in classroom settings; conservators, registrars, curators, archivists, and collection caretakers; and anyone else concerned with the long-term preservation of color photographs.

The Ethics of Seeing

Ideal for students as well as the general reader, this is a comprehensive guide to the photography of the 20th century, including work from one the world's foremost collections. Photographers are presented in alphabetical order.

This book is a compilation of interviews and essays that cover a broad range of photographers and photographic disciplines. Each photographer profiled made a living by concentrating on a specific aspect of the craft, but in doing so transcended their livelihood to become recognized for more than the type of images they created. Each had a distinct "style," creative approach, dedication to the craft, point of view about themselves and the world. These interviews were conducted during a seminal period in the shift from film to digital and from print reproduction to global distribution on the Internet. Just like their photographs continue to inspire today, now these pros' words can live on as an invaluable reference for the photographers of the future. The truth and wisdom in this collection transcend time and technology.

How You Look at it

One of the oldest and most powerful of the great Hollywood studios, Twentieth Century Fox has maintained its magnificent archive of still photographs. This collection features the best of these photographs, many previously unpublished. Filmmaker Scorsese contributes an essay to this stunning volume.

Photography and Literature in the Twentieth Century

A major contribution to the history of photography in Germany, presenting a fine collection of little-known work by a major photographer and a most perceptive essay that is at once biographical, analytic and critical.

Twentieth-century Color Photographs

The Encyclopedia of Nineteenth-Century Photography is the first comprehensive encyclopedia of world photography up to the beginning of the twentieth century. It sets out to be the standard, definitive reference work on the subject for years to come. Its coverage is global – an important 'first' in that authorities from all over the world have contributed their expertise and scholarship towards making this a truly comprehensive publication. The Encyclopedia presents new and ground-breaking research alongside accounts of the major established figures in the nineteenth century arena. Coverage includes all the key people, processes, equipment, movements, styles, debates and groupings which helped photography develop from being 'a solution in search of a problem' when first invented, to the essential communication tool, creative medium, and recorder of everyday life which it had become by the dawn of the twentieth century. The sheer breadth of coverage in the 1200 essays makes the Encyclopedia of Nineteenth-Century Photography an essential reference source for academics, students, researchers and libraries worldwide.

- An essential guide to Chinese photography and a must read for anyone who wants to learn about Chinese photography - A comprehensive review of photography in China since the beginning of the 20th century - Lavishly illustrated, including essays by ten leading scholars Photography is generally accepted as an invention dating back to 1839, and within five years, the medium had already been introduced into China. The development of Chinese photography has a long and varied history and this book examines it chronologically over the course of three chapters: 'Photography during the Republic of China and War Photography', 'Photography after the Founding of the People's Republic of China', and 'Chinese Contemporary Photography. From the unique body of work seen in Chinese pictorial photography to the country's war photography, and from revolutionary photography for the workers and soldiers to the diverse exploration of photography since 1976 and the experiments of the 1990s, the works included in this book present the essence of Chinese photography as never before, revealing the rich and varied creations of Chinese photographers and the evolution of their understanding of the medium. With valuable contributions from ten leading scholars, this book is a must-read for anyone who wants to learn about the great diversity and absorbing history of Chinese photography.

Photographic Realism: Late Twentieth-Century Aesthetics provides an accessible and useful introduction to uses of photography in art practice, and relates them to wider cultural ideas. Focusing on conceptual and political projects between 1970 and the turn of the century, it draws parallels between issues discussed in theory and those displayed visually in practice. Tormey discusses a dynamic era in photography's history, which follows the influences of Conceptual Art and shifts in thinking about representation and subjectivity. The author moves away from the preoccupations of modernist photography to outline a photographic aesthetic that signals a direction for development in the twenty-first century, exemplified here by the complex practices of Chinese photography. This book emphasises how photographs construct ideas, make comments and promote thought – philosophically, culturally and politically. It will be particularly useful in post-graduate courses on Fine Art and Photography, but it will also appeal to students and lecturers of Art History, Visual Culture and Media Studies.

Faces of the Twentieth Century

Dorothea Lange, Documentary Photography, and Twentieth-Century America charts the life of Dorothea Lange (1895–1965), whose life was radically altered by the Depression, and whose photography helped transform the nation. The book begins with her childhood in immigrant, metropolitan New York, shifting to her young adulthood as a New Woman who apprenticed herself to Manhattan's top photographers, then established a career as portraitist to San Francisco's elite. When the Great Depression shook America's economy, Lange was profoundly affected. Leaving her studio, Lange confronted citizens' anguish with her camera, documenting their economic and social plight. This move propelled her to international renown. This biography synthesizes recent New Deal scholarship and photographic history and probes the unique regional histories of the Pacific West, the Plains, and the South. Lange's life illuminates critical transformations in the U.S., specifically women's evolving social roles and the state's growing capacity to support vulnerable citizens. The author utilizes the concept of "care work," the devalued nurturing of others, often considered women's work, to analyze Lange's photography and reassert its power to provoke social change. Lange's portrayal of the Depression's ravages is enmeshed in a deeply political project still debated today, of the nature of governmental responsibility toward citizens' basic needs. Students and the general reader will find this a powerful and insightful introduction to Dorothea Lange, her work, and legacy. Dorothea Lange, Documentary Photography, and Twentieth-Century America makes a compelling case for the continuing political and social significance of Lange's work, as she recorded persistent injustices such as poverty, labor exploitation, racism, and environmental degradation.

Icons of Photography

"Every twenty seconds, all over the world, some aspect of life and social ritual is recorded by the camera: empty rooms, the glinting flanks of horses and bathing beauties, society ladies, the dead and dying ... More than forty major artists and photographers and more than 200 works are included in World Without End, the first major international photography exhibition to be organised from Australia. Some of the most rare, beautiful and unusual images will be presented through vintage prints and publications. Amongst those included are Diane Arbus, Eugène Atget, Pat Brassington, Walker Evans, Carol Jerrems, Man Ray, August Sander, Alfred Stieglitz and Weegee. World Without End examines the extraordinary role of photography in shaping 20th century consciousness. This was a century characterised by prolific creation, circulation and consumption of images. It is now impossible to imagine our reality unmediated by the camera."--Site web de l'éditeur.

Disappearing Witness

Cruel and Tender

This book will take you through the earliest years of hand-painted pictures, into the golden age of hand-painted photography, 1900-1940. Throughout this 40-year period there were more hand-painted pictures sold than in all the rest of history combined. Although Wallace Nutting was the most famous and bestselling photographer of this time, this book takes you beyond Nutting, into the world of E. G. Barnhill, J. Carleton Bicknell, Royal Carlock, David Davidson, Norman Edson, H. Marshall Gardiner, Gibson, William James Harris, F. Jay Haynes, Charles Higgins, Edmond Royce, Charles Sawyer, Fred Thompson, Stephen Willard, and nearly 200 other photographers in this rapidly expanding field. It will explain the intricacies of the photographic hand-painting process, provide an in-depth understanding of grading and condition, and will clearly explain an easy-to-use, five-point grading system to help you differentiate among "good," "better," and "best" photographs. The book also provides a complete overview of the importance of regionality including New England, Florida, the western United States, Canada, and other high areas of collecting. Finally, preservation and conservation techniques are shared by author Michael Ivankovich, one of the country's leading authorities.

Dorothea Lange, Documentary Photography, and Twentieth-Century America

One hundred years ago, architects found in the medium of photography—so good at representing a building's lines and planes—a necessary way to promote their practices. It soon became apparent, however, that photography did more than reproduce what it depicted. It altered both subject and reception, as architecture in the twentieth century was enlisted as a form of mass communication. Claire Zimmerman reveals how photography profoundly influenced architectural design in the past century, playing an instrumental role in the evolution of modern architecture. Her "picture anthropology" demonstrates how buildings changed irrevocably and substantially through their interaction with photography, beginning with the emergence of mass-printed photographically illustrated texts in Germany before World War II and concluding with the postwar age of commercial advertising. In taking up "photographic architecture," Zimmerman considers two interconnected topics: first, architectural photography and its circulation; and second, the impact of photography on architectural design. She describes how architectural photographic protocols developed in Germany in the early twentieth century, expanded significantly in the wartime and postwar diaspora, and accelerated dramatically with the advent of postmodernism. In modern architecture, she argues, how buildings looked and how photographs made them look overlapped in consequential ways. In architecture and photography, the modernist concepts that were visible to the largest number over the widest terrain with the greatest clarity carried the day. This richly illustrated work shows, for the first time, how new ideas and new buildings arose from the interplay of photography and architecture—transforming how we see the world and how we act on it.

Milton Keynes didn't exist at this point. Well at least not as it is now. The city was part of a new development project in the 1960s. Before that the area was mostly farmland with very small population. It was inhabited ever since the bronze age it just never was an established city or even a town until the 1960s. I put it in because I simply made a mistake.

This could have been more than three or even less, it's hard to prove where one was born in the 12th century. Not many birth certificates were printed out at that time.

Technically he was only a "master of the scholars" since the chancellery didn't exist yet but in practice he basically oversaw all the day to day administrations of the University just like a chancellor would. Another reason for staying may have been that Cambridge had a presence of ecclesiastical courts for the bishopric of Ely meaning students and specially law students would have had a great opportunity to work in the town as well as learn.

Joined by the Dominicans in 1238.

However there were new Universities in Scotland due to the fact that the oath by Cambridge and Oxford pertained only to England.

Hostels and halls are basically the same thing and the words are used interchangeable for the most part. However the main difference is that the word hostel was mainly used in Cambridge as the word Hall was mainly used in Oxford.

Hostels like St Bernard's or Physwick.

Although he wasn't the most subtle person in his portrayal of history and definitely had his own set of biases in his writings, specially against the Irish.

Or just clerical law, which often times superseded the University law as the University was a beneficiary of the catholic church.

I show them being hanged within the city's wall due to simplicity sake however they were hanged outside of the city. Also it wasn't just the people that declared the students as guilty. The mayor of the city was there as well and he was the one to carry out the official verdict.

This problem was also prolonged due to the quarrel between the pope and the King of England at the time. As such the church was in no position until 1214 to resolve such problems.

We know this position existed in one way or another before 1214 but this is the first official mention of it.

Aularian just means "hall" in latin.

10 February 1355

There was no set date of end for this but it ended 470 years later when the Mayor and the University reached an agreement. The City also had to pay the university each year on St Scholastic day.

Third one being Thomas Aquinas.

Although Wycliffe is usually credit with the first translation of the bible in to English, this is most likely not the case. However even if he wasn't the first he still did translate the bible in to English and his translation became to be very important.

The reason why I show Wycliffe there with the calculators is because he along with some of the calculators was the last person of the oxford intellectual movement to die.

As You all Know as We all Know in the 20th Century this Country Made the Decision To Abolish Racial Segregation We Thought that Racial Segregation Was Wrong We Realized that It Was Immoral We Understood that It Did Great Harm to both African-Americans and Whites in this Country and We Understood It Was Unconstitutional as a Violation of Our Constitution To Separate the Country by Races and We Began in the 1930s First with Civil Rights Suits That Desegregated Law Schools and Then We Went On To Desegregate Colleges

And We Began in the 1930s First with Civil Rights Suits That Desegregated Law Schools and Then We Went On To Desegregate Colleges and Universities in the 1954 the Supreme Court Ruled that Segregated Elementary and Secondary Schools Were a Violation of the Constitution and Then the Civil Rights Movement Grew and the Result of that Civil Rights Movement in the 1960s We Abolished Segregation and Everything from Water Fountains to Buses to Lunch Counters to Public Facilities of all Kind and Yet Having Done that We've Left Untouched the Biggest Segregation of all Which Is that every Metropolitan in this Area

We Abolished Segregation and Everything from Water Fountains to Buses to Lunch Counters to Public Facilities of all Kind and Yet Having Done that We've Left Untouched the Biggest Segregation of all Which Is that every Metropolitan in this Area in this Country Is Segregated by Race I've Lived in Many of Them I've Lived in New York and Boston and Chicago and North Carolina and Denver and Los Angeles and San Francisco I've Moved There and a Lot every Metropolitan Area That I've Ever Lived in Had Clearly Defined Neighborhoods Where Whites and Only Whites Lived and Clearly Defined Neighborhoods Were African-Americans and Only African-Americans Lived with Rare Exceptions

But We Accept Residential Segregation as Sort of Part of the Natural Environment We're Aware of It All the Time It's Not that We've Tried To Undo It and Have Failed We've Never Even Tried It's Not Something That We Feel Obligated To Do Anything about We Feel Badly about It but We Don't Think It's Our Responsibility To Desegregate Neighborhoods and the Reason for that Is I May Be Not Hard To Understand You Know It's a Lot Harder To Desegregate Neighborhoods than To Desegregate Water Fountains

It's Not that We've Tried To Undo It and Have Failed We've Never Even Tried It's Not Something That We Feel Obligated To Do Anything about We Feel Badly about It but We Don't Think It's Our Responsibility To Desegregate Neighborhoods and the Reason for that Is I May Be Not Hard To Understand You Know It's a Lot Harder To Desegregate Neighborhoods than To Desegregate Water Fountains if You Pass a Law Saying that You Can't Have Separate Water Fountains for Blacks and Whites Well the Next Day People Can Drink out of any Water Fountain if You Pass a Law Saying that You Can't Have Separate Sections on Buses for Blacks and Whites the Next State People Can Sit Anywhere They Want on the Bus but if You Pass a Law Saying We Can't Have Separate Neighborhoods for Whites and Blacks

You Can't Have Separate Sections on Buses for Blacks and Whites the Next State People Can Sit Anywhere They Want on the Bus but if You Pass a Law Saying We Can't Have Separate Neighborhoods for Whites and Blacks Nothing Much Happens the Next Day and So It's a More Difficult Thing To Undo once We've Segregated the Country by Neighborhood by Race and by Neighborhood and So in Order To Rationalize to Ourselves Our Failure To Undo It We've Adopted the National Myth and that Myth Is Pervasive It's Pervasive across the Political Spectrum the Liberals And So in Order To Rationalize to Ourselves Our Failure To Undo It We've Adopted the National Myth and that Myth Is Pervasive It's Pervasive across the Political Spectrum the Liberals and Conservatives Hold It the Blacks and Whites Hold It We've Given a Name to that Myth the Name of that Myth Is We Have De Facto Segregation Not Something That Was Created by Government like All the Other Segregations That We Undid in the 30s 40s 50s and 60s but this Is Something That Sort Of Just Happened by Accident It Happened because People Like To Live with each Other of the Same Race or It Happened because Private Actors whether They Were Real Estate Agents or Bankers Were

Private Citizens Discriminated and How They Sold or Rented Homes

And I Wrote about Many of these Conditions That Predict a Lower Average Achievement for Children Who Come to School with Social and Economic Challenges whether It's Lead Poisoning or the Lack of High-Quality Early Childhood Education or Coming from Homes Where the Parents Are Less Well Educated and Vocabulary Is Less Sophisticated or Being Exposed to Violence and Coming to School and Conditions of Stress or Coming to School from Conditions of Stress because of Parental Unemployment

The the Challenge of Overcoming Them Becomes Nearly Impossible You Know if You Have a Couple of Children in the School with these Disadvantages They Can Get Special Help and Special Attention but if every Single Child in the School It's Coming to School either with Asthma or Lead Poisoning or Lack of a High Quality Early Childhood Experience or Stress from either Violence in the Neighborhood or Economic Conditions at Home or Homeless if You Have every Child in the Classroom That in that Way Reinforcing Their Own Disadvantages the the Achievement Gap Is Inevitable and We Call Schools as You all Know that We Call Schools That Have Children with these Conditions Concentrated within Them We Call Them Segregated Schools

It Was because People Liked To Live with each Other the Same Race He Said and because Private Homeowners and Real Estate Agents and Banks Discriminated and because of Income Differences It Was Accidental Segregation What He Called De Facto Segregation and He Said if You Have De Facto Segregation Its Prohibited for the a School District To Take Account of a Child's Race To Try To Desegregate the School Only Chief Justice Roberts Said if You Have the Jury Segregation Segregation by Law Public Policy Regulation Government-Sponsored Government Created Government and Forced Segregation Only Then Not Only Is It Permissible To Desegregate It's Required that We Do So To Remedy the Constitutional Violation

Tried To Buy a Home in a Middle-Class Suburban Area no Real Estate Agent Would Sell a Home to Him or Show Him a Home in that Neighborhood so the White Homeowner Bought another Home for His Friend and Resold It to His Friend in this Suburb of Shively and the African-American the Navy Veteran Moved into the Home with His Family a Mob Surrounded the Home Protected by the Police They Threw Stones through the Windows They Firebombed and Dynamite at the House That the African-American Family Had Moved into and When the Riot Was over the State of Kentucky But I Hadn't Understood It Was a Complete System That Created the Jury System of Segregation That Sounds Just As Unconstitutional as the Segregation of Buses and Water Fountains and Lunch Counters and Schools so I Began To Accumulate the Evidence and that's What Resulted in the I'M Talking about this Evening Called the Color of Law and Well I Demonstrate in this Book Is that as I Said the the Racial Segregation That Exists in every Metropolitan Area in this Country Is Not the Fact though the Notion of De Facto Segregation Is an Other Myth

Because in the Mid to Early 20th Century There Were Many Integrated Neighborhoods in Urban Areas in this Country That May Surprise You As Well but if You Think about It You'LI Realize that Almost all Jobs in that Period of Time Were Located in Downtown Industrial Areas Workers Didn't Have Automobiles To Get To Work So if You Had an Industrial Area Where African Americans and Irish Immigrants and Italian Immigrants and Jews and Migrants from Rural Areas We'Re all Working at Jobs in this Industrial Area without Automobiles They all Have To Live Close Enough To Be Able To Walk To Work So Sometimes There Were Street Cars They Took Structured Streetcar Rides but They Lived in Broadly the Same Neighborhoods

So if You Had an Industrial Area Where African Americans and Irish Immigrants and Italian Immigrants and Jews and Migrants from Rural Areas We'Re all Working at Jobs in this Industrial Area without Automobiles They all Have To Live Close Enough To Be Able To Walk To Work So Sometimes There Were Street Cars They Took Structured Streetcar Rides but They Lived in Broadly the Same Neighborhoods I Mean I'M Not Just Not Just in the North and the South As Well the South May Have Had Jim Crow and Water Fountains but Didn't Have Jim Crow and Residences African-Americans and Whites Lived in Many of the Same Neighborhoods Not all Neighborhoods but Many of the Same Neighborhoods some of You May Have Read the Autobiography of Langston Hughes the the Great African-American Poet Novelist and Playwright He Describes How He Grew Up in a Downtown Integrated Cleveland Neighborhood

I Mean I'M Not Just Not Just in the North and the South As Well the South May Have Had Jim Crow and Water Fountains but Didn't Have Jim Crow and Residences African-Americans and Whites Lived in Many of the Same Neighborhoods Not all Neighborhoods but Many of the Same Neighborhoods some of You May Have Read the Autobiography of Langston Hughes the the Great African-American Poet Novelist and Playwright He Describes How He Grew Up in a Downtown Integrated Cleveland Neighborhood We Don't Think of Downtown Cleveland as Being an Integrated Place but He Grew

Up There He Says His Best Friend Was Polish He Dated the Jewish Girl
And so the Federal Government Was Building Housing for Working-Class Families Not for Poor People They Had They Paid the Full Cost of the of the Housing and Their Rents the Government Wasn't Putting Out any Money over the Long Term for these Houses of Course That To Advance the Construction Cost but It Got It Back on the Rents Not the Kind of Public Housing We Think of Today and Most of It Was for Whites

The Government Wasn't Putting Out any Money over the Long Term for these Houses of Course That To Advance the Construction Cost but It Got It Back on the Rents Not the Kind of Public Housing We Think of Today and Most of It Was for Whites There Were a Few Projects for African Americans but Always Segregated Even in Atlanta There Was a Downtown Area Called the Flats both African Americans and Whites Were Living There and Paths 60 / 40 Ratio so It's a Pretty Integrated Community but the Federal Government Demolished Housing There and Built a Segregated Project for Whites Only Forcing the African Americans Who Were Living in that Area To Find Housing Elsewhere To Double Up with Relatives

So It Built Segregated Housing It Built Housing for the African-Americans of Temporary Housing Not Well Constructed along the Railroad Tracks and in the Industrial Area near the Shipyards It Was Temporary because the City of Richmond Announced that at the End of the War any African-Americans Who Had Come There to Work Would Have To Leave and It Built Housing for the White Workers More Stable Housing in the Residential Areas East of the the Coast It Created Segregation Here Where It Hadn't Previously Existed There Was no Segregation because There Wasn't a Substantial African-American Population in in the Area in Fact throughout California in the Way Coasts

And President Truman Who Was Then President in 1949 Proposed a Vast Expansion of the National Public Housing Program To Accommodate these Returning War Veterans and Remember We'Re Not Talking about Poor People these Are People Who Had Jobs in the Post-War Boom in the Economic Boom after the War but There Was no Housing Available for Them the Government Wasn't Proposing To Build Subsidized Housing for Poor People Was Proposing To Build Housing for Returning War Veterans and Conservatives in Congress Wanted To Defeat the Expansion of Public Housing That President Truman Had Proposed for this Purpose They Wanted To Defeat that Not for Racial Reasons because It Was Segregated

And Conservatives in Congress Wanted To Defeat the Expansion of Public Housing That President Truman Had Proposed for this Purpose They Wanted To Defeat that Not for Racial Reasons because It Was Segregated and They Had no Problem with that They Didn't Want To Defeat It because They Didn't Like Poor People because this Wasn't for Poor People It Was for Returning War Veterans Who Had Jobs They Wanted To Defeat It Simply because They Thought that Public Housing Was Socialistic that the Government Shouldn't Be Involved in the Housing Market It Should Be the Private Market That Takes Care of the Needs of Returning War Veterans Even though the Private Market Wasn't Taking Care of Their Needs

Because this Wasn't for Poor People It Was for Returning War Veterans Who Had Jobs They Wanted To Defeat It Simply because They Thought that Public Housing Was Socialistic that the Government Shouldn't Be Involved in the Housing Market It Should Be the Private Market That Takes Care of the Needs of Returning War Veterans Even though the Private Market Wasn't Taking Care of Their Needs and so They Came Up with a Device To Defeat the the Program That President Truman Had Proposed It's a Device That Is Well Known to Observers of Politics

When the Entire Bill Came Up for a Vote That Would Be So Ridiculous that the Civil Rights Bill Would Go Down to Defeat and They Misjudged and that's Why We Have Non-Discrimination Provisions by Gender in the Civil Rights Bill They Didn't Succeed in Defeating the Final Bill after They Attach this Amendment to It but Going Back to 1949 Conservatives in Congress Had a Poison Pill Strategy They Proposed that an Amendment to the National Housing Act Be Added That Provided that from Now on all Public Housing Had To Be Integrated no More Discrimination in Public Housing Segregation Would Be Ended in Public Housing and They Propose this Amendment Cynically of Course Assuming that They Would Vote for It

Remember I See Enough Bald Heads and White Hair Here To Know that the some You Will Know Who You Birth Humphrey Was He Had the Year before He Had Led a an Effort at the Democratic National Convention To Add the Civil Rights Platform to the Democratic Civil Rights Closed the Democratic Platform so He Was the Leading Civil Right He Campaigned against the Integration Amendment He Persuaded All the Northern Liberals with Rare Exceptions To Vote against the Integration the Integration Men Went Down To Defeat the Full Public Housing Bill Came Up before Congress as an in Continuing Segregated Program It Passed

The Government Had To Open Up all Public Housing to African Americans Gradually They Became

Predominantly African American about the Same Time Industry Left the Cities and There Were Fewer Fewer Jobs to Which Public Housing Residents Had Access We No Longer Industry Previously Was Dependent on either Deepwater Ports or Railroad Terminals but once the Highways Began To Be Built They Could Move Out to Rural Areas into the Suburbs and Have More Land and Not Have To Have Elevators and Dividing Up Their Assembly Lines so They Moved out of the Cities

Once They Became Subsidized Investment in Public Housing Decline the Maintenance Declined and Public Housing Became the Kind of Vertical Slums That We Came To Associate with Public Housing in the Late 20th Century That's Not How Public Housing Began but the Question That I Hope Is Arising in Your Mind because of the Rose in Mind When I Read this History of Public Housing Is Why Did All these Vacancies Develop in the White Projects and Not in the Black Projects these Were Returning War Veterans Blacks

But the Question That I Hope Is Arising in Your Mind because of the Rose in Mind When I Read this History of Public Housing Is Why Did All these Vacancies Develop in the White Projects and Not in the Black Projects these Were Returning War Veterans Blacks and Whites They all Had Jobs in the Postwar Boom the the African Americans Might Not Have Had the Better Jobs White's Monopolized those but They all Couldn't Afford Rent To Pay the Rent Why All these Vacancies and in the White Projects and Not the Black Projects and the Reason for that Is another Federal Program Which Was Even More Powerful in Creating Segregated Communities and that Was a Program That Was Run by the Federal Housing Administration

And the Reason for that Is another Federal Program Which Was Even More Powerful in Creating Segregated Communities and that Was a Program That Was Run by the Federal Housing Administration and It Was a Program That Was Designed To Segregate the Entire White Population into Single-Family Homes and the Suburbs It's Actually a Program That the Federal Government Began as a Propaganda Campaign and Right at the End of World War One after the Russian Revolution When some Geniuses and the Woodrow Wilson Administration Decided that the Way To Prevent White Workers from Becoming Bolsheviks Was To Get Them into Single-Family Homes and the Suburbs and Become Property Owners

In Urban Areas and Told Them that the Way To Avoid Racial Strife Was To Move to the Suburbs after I Published the Book I Came across a Poster that the Federal Housing Administration Had Produced and It Was a Poster the Picture Was of an African-American Man Being Led Away in Handcuffs by Police and the Headline Was Escaped Crime Moved to the Suburbs this Was a Federal Government Propaganda Campaign but It Didn't Have Much Effect because the Working-Class Families No Matter How Much They Wanted To Believe the Government Propaganda Didn't Have the Money To Afford Single-Family Homes in the Suburbs

If a Family Wanted To Own a Home in the Suburbs They Had To Buy some Land and Find a Builder To Construct It and Maybe There Was a Builder Occasionally Who Was Really a Risk-Taker and Was Willing To Build Three or Four or Five Homes

It's the Reason That Well We're the De Facto Theory Says that African Americans Just Can't Afford To Move into Middle-Class Communities Well It's True They Can't They all Have Money for Down Payments but that's a Federal Creation an Unconstitutional Federal Creation the Wealth Gap That Creates and Perpetuates the Segregation Is Responsible for the Concentration of the Most Disadvantaged Young People in this Country and Why We Have Riots like Ferguson and Milwaukee and St Paul and Other Places That We've Seen in Recent Years and Hundreds of Them

The Wealth Gap That Creates and Perpetuates the Segregation Is Responsible for the Concentration of the Most Disadvantaged Young People in this Country and Why We Have Riots like Ferguson and Milwaukee and St Paul and Other Places That We've Seen in Recent Years and Hundreds of Them Earlier in the the 20th Century It's the Reason Why as I Said at the Very Beginning We Have an Achievement Gap
