TRAPPED IN BROAD-DAY LIGHT

'Trapped in broad daylight' is the story of a young man who leaves his quiet humble native village in order to fulfill his hidden ambition in a rough, cold and hostile distant metropolis. While in the city, he fulfills his ambition in a manner and to a level that is beyond his intellectual capacity. With inflated ego and a sense of invincibility, he goes back home to the village where he literally places himself above all and sundry. The entire world around him falls to his feet. He displays so much wealth and well-being that all the village youngsters begin to imitate his brand of lifestyle and flock to the city to duplicate his success. Sooner than later, they realize that there had been so much misconception and misinformation about the city and begin to wish they had stayed home in the first place. Meanwhile, the city boy continues to shine in the village in his newly-found stardom. At the height of his popularity, a most beautiful and largely-unknown seductive widow shows up in a puzzling manner to tantalize and trail him. His nocturnal dreams quickly turned into a cyclical platform of strange love affair. Allured by the magical images of the seductive widow he, in turn, began to chase after her. The double chase turns into a fierce battle of will, of determination and strange love affair. The man who ruled the world around him is suddenly held spellbound by the evasive images of a puzzling widow in black. He cannot wait to unravel the mystery surrounding her.

Trapped

The sorceress of psychological suspense is back with the third book in her highly-anticipated new Nowhere USA series. Ninie Hammon is at her career-best in Trapped — a story that will have you sleeping with the lights on. Stuart McClintock comes to Nowhere County looking for his wife, Charlie, and their daughter, but when he gets to her mother's house it's empty—no people or furniture only what's on the walls. In frustration, Stuart writes on the blackboard on the wall in the kitchen: "Where Are You?" Slowly, words scrawl back to him: "I'm trapped. It won't let me go." Inside the Jabberwock, Charlie saw his words and responded, hoping he could see her words too. The next day, she writes "I want to go home!" on the blackboard. New letters immediately appear beneath hers, one at a time, all caps block letters, as though they were written by a child: "NO! STAY HERE AND PLAY WITH ME." Meanwhile, multiple murders make the trapped residents fear for their lives and long for a sense of law and order. Which is not at all what they get when Viola Tackett kills the country's only law enforcement officer and takes over. "This story has more twists and turns than the winding mountain roads of Nower County, and you don't want to miss a single curve or dip!" -- Phyllis W "the more books I read in this series, the more I get caught up in the story and the more I love the characters, feeling like they have become my best friends – or enemies. There are so many dimensions to the action that I know these are books I'll read over and over again and see something new each time." -- Bonsterblack "I am so hooked on the Nowhere series! Trapped, book #3 is as exciting and heart pounding as the previous books, with people disappearing and houses aging to the point of dilapidation and a surprise ending that left me with my mouth gaping open. The books get more awesome as each new one is published. I can't wait for what book #4 will bring." -- Lynn Geth "Is this really only book 3? Man, how has Ninie Hammon managed to twist my brain into so many knots in only three short novels? I don't know if I should be looking for the Boogie Man under my bed, watching the skies for aliens, or Googling mental health facilities in my area (which strangely, would only be about 45 minutes away from the fictional Nowhere, KY)!" -- Kentucky Bohemian Trapped is the third book in Ninie Hammon's new series, Nowhere USA, a riveting psychological thriller about the residents of a forgotten county that inexplicably sinks through reality to find itself in the middle of Nowhere. Fans of Justified, Under The Dome, and LOST will find themselves right at home in Nowhere USA.

Trapped at the Altar

New York Times bestselling author Jane Feather introduces a sizzling new series that moves from the remote wilds of southwest England to the turbulent royal court, when a lovely young woman is forced into marriage in order to unite two families—and discovers a most unexpected passion. . . Ariadne Carfax has vowed to be with the man she loves, Gabriel Fawcett. There's just one obstacle. On his deathbed, Ari's grandfather decrees that she marry her childhood friend Ivor Chalfont, thus forging a powerful alliance between the two warring families. Giving Ari no time to protest, the elders plan her wedding the next day, forcing her to follow through on the nuptials. Though she is fond of Ivor, Ari has no intention of consummating their marriage—until he kindles an intoxicating desire that she can't ignore. Ivor has loved Ari for years, but he doesn't want an unwilling wife. He wants Ari to ache with the same irresistible longing he feels. And if that's the way to woo her into his bed and into their new life, he won't rest until his new bride surrenders to true love.

Can't Stop Walking

Can't Stop Walking: Every Walk Must First Begin with a Step, Purpose, and Direction is a stunning and incisive nonfictional narrative which critiques some of the cultural, traditional, and societal issues which impacted and challenged the lives of many Liberians, especially the youth who suffered, bled, and died in their ignorance during the Liberian Civil War. This is a book uniquely written to bring the readers mentally closer to some information and experiences that may seem unrealistic but true, inconceivable or trivia but factual. The book reveals the tireless and unwavering efforts made by two friends bound together in one faith and purpose with a desire to change the mindset of youths who were actively involved in a civil war. It discusses how these two friends nonviolently challenged the culture, tradition, and societal elites of a small town by engaging the youth and elders through the "Trinity Plan" and helped transform a struggling church threatened by dogmas and traditional practices.

Supernatural Western Novels

Howard wrote one of the first "Weird Western" stories ever created, "The Horror from the Mound." This genre acted as a bridge between his early "weird" stories (a contemporary term for horror and fantasy) and his later straight western tales. Robert Ervin Howard (1906-1936) was an American author who wrote pulp fiction in a diverse range of genres. He is well known for his character Conan the Barbarian and is regarded as the father of the sword and sorcery subgenre. This edition includes: The Horror From The Mound The Man On The Ground Old Garfield's Heart Black Canaan The Dead Remember Pigeons From Hell

The Trap

From award-winning, internationally bestselling crime writer Catherine Ryan Howard comes The Trap: an unsettling mystery inspired by a series of still-unsolved disappearances in Ireland in the nineties, wherein one young woman risks everything to catch a faceless killer. One year ago, Lucy's sister, Nicki, left to meet friends at a pub in Dublin and never came home. The third Irish woman to vanish inexplicably in as many years, the agony of not knowing what happened that night has turned Lucy's life into a waking nightmare. So, she's going to take matters into her own hands. Angela works as a civilian paper-pusher in the Missing Persons Unit, but wants nothing more than to be a fully fledged member of An Garda Síochána, the Irish police force. With the official investigation into the missing women stalled, she begins pulling on a thread that could break the case wide open—and destroy her chances of ever joining the force. A nameless man drives through the night, his latest victim in the back seat. He's going to tell her everything, from the beginning. And soon, she'll realize: what you don't know can hurt you ...

The Twenty-five Year Century

For Victor Hugo, the nineteenth century could be remembered by only its first two years, which established peace in Europe and France's supremacy on the continent. For General Lam Quang Thi, the twentieth century had only twenty-five years: from 1950 to 1975, during which the Republic of Vietnam and its Army grew up and collapsed with the fall of Saigon. This is the story of those twenty-five years. General Thi fought in the Indochina War as a battery commander on the side of the French. When Viet Minh aggression began after the Geneva Accords, he served in the nascent Vietnamese National Army, and his career covers this army's entire lifespan. He was deputy commander of the 7th Infantry Division, and in 1965 he assumed command of the 9th Infantry Division. In 1966, at the age of thirty-three, he became one of the youngest generals in the Vietnamese Army. He participated in the Tet Offensive before being removed from the front lines for political reasons. When North Vietnam launched the 1972 Great Offensive, he was brought back to the field and eventually promoted to commander of an Army Corps Task Force along the Demilitarized Zone. With the fall of Saigon, he left Vietnam and emigrated to the United States. Like his tactics during battle, General Thi pulls no punches in his denunciation of the various regimes of the Republic, and complacency and arrogance toward Vietnam in the policies of both France and the United States. Without lapsing into bitterness, this is finally a tribute to the soldiers who fell on behalf of a good cause.

The Ghost Within

The day Opal observes her boyfriend locking lips with a gorgeous blonde is the day her life goes to pot. People turn to ash before her eyes, then her parents move the family into a creepy house left to them in a will by her great uncle. In the house, objects start disappearing and a sleek black creature saves her from a bolt of lightning meant to kill her. She feels her mind is sinking into insanity, except everything seems so real and more absurd than the vampire shows she watches. She surmises her imagination must be defective. Meanwhile Nova -- the sorceress -- keeper of night magic and the mother of Bloodseekers, is sinking Earth into a thick cloud-covered darkness, each day colder than the next, and the Slayers still haven't found Agate the empath. Without her they can't destroy every Bloodseeker on Earth or stop the inky blackness from taking over and feeding Nova's night magic until the light is gone forever. Even the unique witches they have ties with can't stop her without the seventh Slayer. Can the Slayers reunite all supernaturals and find Agate to defeat the dark forces and save humanity?

Coyotes in Broad Daylight

Yehling explores a world without the many masks of fear and self-trickery that people wear for acceptance and survival, a world in which they reveal their deepest selves. This collection also features a few selections written in previously forgotten Ancient Greek poetry forms, as well as a series of new challenging and entertaining essays.

Trapped in the Dark Wilds

When a group of Danish eco-tourists travel to the rainforests of Central Africa to observe one of the most amazing living creatures, the endangered lowland gorilla, they witness a strange and disturbing scene, uncovering a State secret that puts them in grave danger. What should have been an experience of a lifetime quickly develops into a manhunt. It involves illegal mining, coldblooded local gangs and an international cover-up that sees highly dangerous goods travel across the continent and into the hands of oppressive foreign regimes. Dan Borre, group leader and owner of Congo Adventure & Eco Tours, decides to take matters into his own hands. He must act quickly against uncertain odds to protect the people to whom he has vowed safety. From his experience as a former diamond trader, and fleeing with his family from their rubber plantation in Liberia in the midst of a bloody uprising, Dan knows all too well the perils that he and his small group face. He must piece together the fragments of the clandestine operation as time dwindles away and complications mount, until a helping hand advances from an unexpected source....

Bodyguard Camryn MacKay goes to work like any other day. Except this isn't any other day. When a strange man with unexplainable strength and reflexes attacks Camryn's client on the streets of Berlin, she's thrown headfirst into the veiled world--a magical world hidden from humans. As if these revelations weren't enough, Cam discovers an unsettling truth: She's part of this secret world. Always has been. Tasked to figure out what really happened, she's paired up with Leon, an empath witch. As an unwanted attraction grows between them, they must figure out why a vampire is immune to sunlight before it unravels the fragile peace between the veiled factions--pinning werecats against vampires, with the witches stuck in the middle. The veil has been parted, and Camryn never backs down from a challenge.  The Veiled World Chronicles is a slow-burn Urban Fantasy series full of magic, twisted intrigue, bittersweet coffee, and werecats with a bite. Join Camryn behind the veil. If you dare.

Fitch and His Fortunes. An Anglo-Indian Novel

"Tarbell was the only woman in her class of forty students at Allegheny College. Shortly after graduation she took a job at The Chautauquan, beginning a lifelong immersion in the world of journalism. But it was at McClure's magazine - where she was the only woman on staff - that Tarbell made her name as a determined journalist, one of the fearless brigade of truth seekers famously chastised by Theodore Roosevelt, who used the term "muckraker" to discredit those who attacked U.S. senators in print. Tarbell also wrote serialized biographies of Napoleon and Abraham Lincoln, as well as a landmark series of articles on Standard Oil and John D. Rockefeller."

Broad Daylight

A comprehensive survey of the valuable work undertaken by Britain's network of bird observatories, with summaries and tables of noteworthy events and much historical background. Bird observatories are research stations established mainly for the study of migration, particularly by means of ringing. There are now 18 scattered around the Britain and Ireland at key points on migration routes, on coastal promontories or small islands. Part of their attraction is the regular occurrence of rarities that are found each year at these observatories. Written by wardens and ringers from each location, Bird Observatories of Britain and Ireland is a timely new edition of one of the earliest Poyser titles. It includes detailed coverage of the history, location, habitats and ornithological interest of each observatory, including summaries and tables of noteworthy events.

All in the Day's Work

"The Keepers of the Trail, a Story of the Great Woods" is the third historical children's novel in Joseph A. Altsheler's "The Young Trailers Series". The story follows the adventures and exploits of Henry Ware and his friends set to the backdrop of the American Revolution. "The Keepers of the Trail" is perfect for children with an interest in history and is not to be missed by collectors of classic Western fiction. Joseph Alexander Altsheler (1862 – 1919) was an American journalist, editor and author famous for his of popular historical fiction aimed at children. Altsheler wrote a total of fifty-one novels during his life, as well as over fifty short stories. Other notable works by this author include: "The Sun of Saratoga, a romance of Burgoyne's surrender" (1897) and "In Circling Camps, a romance of the Civil War" (1900). Many vintage books such as this are becoming increasingly scarce and expensive. We are republishing this volume now in an affordable, modern, high-quality edition complete with a specially commissioned new introduction and biography of the author. This book was first published in 1916.

Bird Observatories of Britain and Ireland

He's no Prince Charming. Lord Rushton Smith is as rough as he is hard. His only wish is to leave London and the ton behind. He just wants to live a simple life of mind numbing work away from family and the crime that has shaped him into this beast of a man. But one small favor is burning down his dreams one by one and threatening to reshape his entire life. Can a criminal be her hero? Trapped into an engagement with her distant cousin and new guardian, Lady Abigail Wentworth has no idea how she'll survive the future that lays before her. That is until the rogue, Lord Rushton Smith charges into her life and carries her away. Literally. When she faints, he just picks her up and loads her into his carriage. But her guardian, Baron Westphal wants her back. Lord Rushton Smith is all that stands between her and a dark future. Can he hold back the tide and deliver her from the storm? And what of the attraction that crackles between them? Will it be her saving grace, or has it lit a fire sure to burn them both to the ground?
