King's Chapel Sermons

Trieste Publishing has a massive catalogue of classic book titles. Our aim is to provide readers with the highest quality reproductions of fiction and non-fiction literature that has stood the test of time. The many thousands of books in our collection have been sourced from libraries and private collections around the world. The titles that Trieste Publishing has chosen to be part of the collection have been scanned to simulate the original. Our readers see the books the same way that their first readers did decades or a hundred or more years ago. Books from that period are often spoiled by imperfections that did not exist in the original. Imperfections could be in the form of blurred text, photographs, or missing pages. It is highly unlikely that this would occur with one of our books. Our extensive quality control ensures that the readers of Trieste Publishing's books will be delighted with their purchase. Our staff has thoroughly reviewed every page of all the books in the collection, repairing, or if necessary, rejecting titles that are not of the highest quality. This process ensures that the reader of one of Trieste Publishing's titles receives a volume that faithfully reproduces the original, and to the maximum degree possible, gives them the experience of owning the original work. We pride ourselves on not only creating a pathway to an extensive reservoir of books of the finest quality, but also providing value to every one of our readers. Generally, Trieste books are purchased singly - on demand, however they may also be purchased in bulk. Readers interested in bulk purchases are invited to contact us directly to enquire about our tailored bulk rates.

KINGS CHAPEL SERMONS

Excerpt from King's Chapel Sermons The sermons in this volume were, all of them, preached at King's Chapel, and most of them writ ten for that use, the greater part of them dur ing the illness and since the death of my very dear friend, Rev. Henry W. Foote, under whose pastor ate I deemed it my privilege to place myself after I resigned my office as Preacher to the University. The last three sermons were printed at the request of the Wardens and Vestry, and are now reprinted. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work. Forgotten Books uses state-of-the-art technology to digitally reconstruct the work, preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy. In rare cases, an imperfection in the original, such as a blemish or missing page, may be replicated in our edition. We do, however, repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully; any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works.

Thy Kingdom Come

Excerpt from A Sermon Preached in King's Chapel, November 22, 1835: The Sunday After the Funeral of the Rev. James Freeman, D.D Five sabbaths ago, I had occasion to observe to you, my brethren, that it was then fifty-three years, since our father, the senior pastor of this church, commenced his ministerial services here. I said also, that his active labors having been suspended for a long period by the will of Providence, he was on that other, and perhaps more difficult post of duty, standing and waiting - that he was standing, calm, cheerful and composed, his lamp trimmed and burning in his hand, waiting to hear the cry, Behold the bridegroom cometh! At length the cry was made at midnight, and the bridegroom came. The servant was found watching and ready, he has gone in with his Lord, and the door is shut. Doth our father yet live? In the sense in which the words of the text were originally spoken, we know that he does not. If we answer the question according to its first and literal import, as it was put by Joseph to his brethren, we must say that our father is no longer living - that he is numbered among the dead. But is there not another sense with which we may clothe those ancient words of filial inquiry? And in that other, spiritual, Christian sense, may we not answer precisely as the brethren of Joseph did, when on a former occasion he put to them a similar inquiry?-when he asked them of their welfare, and said, Is your father well, the old man of whom ye spake? Is he yet alive? And they answered, Thy servant our father is in good health, he is yet alive. Is it not well with our father? Is he not alive? Does he not live, not only in our memories and hearts, but a far more enduring life in the memory of God - in the presence of God - in the society of the just - In the mansions of heaven? Is it not well with him, and is he not in good health? Are not his pains relieved, his sicknesses removed; his groanings quieted, and his sorrows ended? That burthen of many years which pressed upon him so wearily, is it not taken off That veil of dimness which had begun to gather before his mind, is it not drawn aside? Those daily sinkings, those nightly sufferings, that anxious looking for him who came not, are they not over now?-our father is alive; he is in good health. He is gone to the land where pain and sickness are unknown; his youth is renewed his faculties are more than restored; his vigor is immortal; he lives in a better country, that is, an heavenly, with saints and angels, with Christ and with God. ## Sermons Preached at King's Chapel

Excerpt from Freedom and Truth: And Other Sermons in King's Chapel Its author believes in the method of freedom every where, so far as it can be with a fair degree of safety applied. Except where human life is actually at stake, as in war, or in the management of many of our mechanical contrivances, he thinks that something of efficiency may well be sacrificed to secure a larger amount of individual liberty. He believes this because none but a free mind can be trusted to engage in the pursuit of new truth, and because humanity cannot be safe in following any road where the clearest light of truth is not allowed to lead the way. ## The Spirit Proper to the Times

Excerpt from Thy Kingdom Come: Ten Sermons on the Lord's Prayer, Preached in King's Chapel, Boston These Sermons were prepared for the Sunday morning services at King's Chapel with no thought of publication, and lack the careful revision which Mr. Foote always deemed necessary before printing. Preached after a time of deep experience in his own life, they spoke to those who heard them of the spiritual realities in which he himself had been living; and it is hoped that any who, in quietness, seek to enter into near companionship with this little book, will find in it a like help and blessing.
