sniper, and Senior Chief who served with and led SEALs in multiple combat tours from ...

Intro

Starting out. Unbreakable.

Growing up hunting, trapping, and outside in one of the 'best times to be a kid in America' making $6K at 9 years old.

Training SEAL Snipers. Half arrived never having touched a gun, which is good for shooting.

Thom comes from a "horrifically military" family drawing a veteran lineage through to the beginnings of America.

How to deal with failing out of West Point and following a dream to become a SEAL rather than following someone else's path.

Perseverance in fighting to become a SEAL and failing BUDS four times.

"Oh, you failed again," from family after failing out of BUDS.

If you ever failed in what you believe is your dream or been told no and need some inspiration to keep going, listen to this. After having failed out four times from BUDS, Thom would sit in the Admiral's office for his lunch break for TWO years to request authorization to return. He eventually completed Class 207.

What is the "Internal Dialogue" and why is it important? When you do difficult things, it's not about how hard the thing is, but how you beat yourself down in the process.

First experience in combat is the beginning of the air war in Kosovo doing a rescue as an E-5 SEAL Team 2 Sniper to rescue Chris Hill, the U.S. Ambassador in Macedonia. Described as a 'comical series of the dumbest things that could possibly happen.'

First time seeing the 'atrocities of war.'

What does it mean to be a "breacher" on a SEAL team?

First trigger pull and kill in combat was described rather 'insignificant' and felt like training.

Thom's most difficult deployment was in 2009 when he was an E-7 Chief.

Extremely interesting decision when offered to lead either a perfect group of operators or a group that hated each other and couldn't work together.

How, as a leader, to grow and give a chance to someone who didn't fit in before.

Six MH-47s dropped 200 Special Operations and Special Forces into a single battle in Afghanistan. In the last moments that you live, you realize needing and being needed by others when you have nothing left.

The A-10 is 'the greatest combat machine in the history of combat machines.'

How leadership can help operators after having lived through hell and killing 200+ Taliban.

The fundamentals and keys to lead small teams in combat. The human connection. "You don't know what's going to happen to the mind."

The importance of a can of Copenhagen and the little things that get you through hard times.

If you're a small unit leader, particularly an officer, this is one segment you should listen to. What makes a great Lieutenant (LT) coming from an old crusty SEAL?

Sniper-on-Sniper engagement. A battle within a battle.

Description of Three Simple Things, Thom's new book about how to improve your life.

The original title for Unbreakable was Spartan Wife and as Thom describes, "women make men."

Was there something you carried into combat that meant something to you?

Would you do it all again?

Beau bio.

Interview begins.

"My mom was a walking encyclopedia of American conflicts."

Introducing Ben and Jeremy as kids.

Life shaping event for Beau and his brothers.

How on Earth do three brothers choose three different branches of service and become a SEAL, a Green Beret, and a Marine?

How your mom might react after signing up for the Marine Corps.
Beau's description as an 0331 Marine.
The loss of the first Wise brother, Jeremy, who was one of the seven CIA personnel killed at FOB Chapman in Khost, Afghanistan on Dec 30th, 2009.
Mindset after a devastating loss and being sent back into the breach.
Advice on how to handle the loss of someone close in combat.
Beau's experience identifying an IED emplacement in Marjah.
A phenomenal training and then combat story from Jeremy Wise in his time as a SEAL.
A combat story from Ben Wise during his time as a Green Beret medic and sniper.
What happens after Beau learns of Ben's passing.
What did Beau, Ben, and Jeremy carry into combat for good luck.
Would you do it all again, after all the pain and suffering?
