using one sheet of three quarter inch plywood start by first cutting out the three main pieces of our cabinet cut a three-quarter inch dadoed groove leave a quarter inch material on the plywood remove the desired three-quarter inches of material hook together the first three pieces of our cabinet box cut down four pieces of four inch scrap plywood cut the back panel of our cabinet integrate the kick plate into the actual cabinet box kick plate apply a dab of wood glue into the center use a few dabs of ca glue on either side hold pressure on that miter till the wood glue dries set our three-sided cabinet box on top secure it with four pocket screws secure the cabinet to the wall start by just laying out the entire thing on the cabinet leaving about a 30 second of an inch overhang on my plywood hooking them together from the back side assemble each joint with just a dab of glue start working on the interior components use pocket holes on the outside of the cabinet lay down a nice thick bead of glue around the entire perimeter sand your face frame thoroughly getting rid of any ridges or edges break down all the internal edges of my face frame
