Muslim Manners

An integral part of every Muslim household and Islamic school classroom is teaching children proper adab (etiquette). Clear the Path: A Rhyme Book on Manners for Little Muslims is a fun and simple collection of rhymes with colorful and relatable illustrations to help parents and educators teach their children and students the basics of Islamic etiquette in private and public spaces. Inspired by nearly forty sound hadiths (narrations), all of which are included in the reference section, this book not only provides practical lessons in Islamic etiquette, but also serves as a valuable resource of essential hadiths every Muslim should know.

Muslim Manners

This book is a mothers' book—not that it can't be read by fathers as well—the outgrowth of a mothers' study group which met in Kuwait before the Gulf War, focused on rearing children in an Islamic way. The mothers were mostly American and British converts to Islam, although in cosmopolitan Kuwait there were women from many other backgrounds. The group was an offshoot of meetings for English-speaking Muslim women, held weekly in the home of Sister Zainab Ashry in Kuwait for more than ten years prior to the Gulf War. From their knowledge of Islam, the women involved wanted to study the implications of their faith on their child-rearing practices. The first step was to collect information—any Qur'anic verse or hadith—that a participant found relevant. Other information was collected from such knowledgeable people and books as were available. Monthly discussions were organized on different topics. Since the war, some of the participating sisters have returned to Kuwait, but many of our group are now scattered all over the world. All the notes and papers collected by the study group were in my home in Kuwait when the invasion occurred; fortunately my husband was able to salvage them and bring them here to our new home in the States. I felt an obligation to compile this collected information to share with other Muslims, especially converts like myself. My deepest thanks must go to my husband, whose support and cooperation gave me the means to carry out this task. This book begins with the birth of a child to Muslim parents, and the traditional Islamic response to the birth, following the example of Prophet Muhammad (S). Very few specific actions are defined, and these mostly relate to practices at the time of birth. All of these fall into the category of sunnah (following the Prophet's example or what he approved of in others), and though highly recommended, they are not fard (obligatory) actions. Aside from these few simple practices carried out when a baby comes into the world, Islam has no ceremonies devoted exclusively to children—no first communion, no coming-of-age celebrations. Children are not segregated into a special world separate from that of adults; they are members of families in the great, embracing cycle of human life. The family supports them when they are young; they support the family in their productive years, and in old age they are again supported by the family. They grow and develop gradually in a system that encourages growth and learning, but places little emphasis on milestones and anniversaries. A large portion of this book is given to defining relationships from the Qur'an and hadith. To understand the significance of the child in Muslim society, it is necessary to recognize the total number and value of his or her relationships within it, which are different from the relationships defined by other societies. Chapter 1 includes some of the traditions of the Prophet Muhammad that apply to the newborn. Chapter 2 describes the nature of the child's relationship with Allah and the spiritual world, with some suggestions for encouraging spiritual awareness. Chapter 3 contains Qur'anic verses and ahadith relevant to the child's relationship with his or her parents. In light of these definitions, and with reference to the Islamic teachings concerning morals, manners, and the purpose of life, an attempt is made in chapters 4, 5, and 6 to present an organized structure dealing with the practical how-to of rearing a child in an Islamic way, from a parent's viewpoint. Chapters Introduction ix 7 and 8 progressively broaden out the child's world by adding brothers and sisters, extended family, and community relationships. The practical suggestions for improving relationships among adult family members, in order to pave the way for improving the child's relations with his or her extended family, are an important aspect of chapter 8. The only relationship which really changes for the child as he or she grows up is that of accountability to Allah, since no child is accountable for his or her actions before reaching the age of understanding. All other relationships develop and deepen as the child grows but remain basically the same, for the general commands to honor parents, show respect to elders, be gentle with younger ones, and honor family ties continue for a Muslim throughout his or her life. I pray to Allah that this book may bring only good to mothers and their children, and that He protect them from any mistakes or misunderstandings. I have done my best to prepare the material contained within it in a suitable manner and hope to see other literature published on this important subject, expanding and enriching it. While I alone am responsible for the contents, I am deeply indebted to the many sisters who helped collect references and discussed the practical implications of our findings. I have no list to prompt me and consequently may have unwittingly forgotten some names, but I well remember Terry, Lianna, Salma, Noura, Mia, Khadijah, Sandra, Hicleir, Debbie, Sara, Maryam, Aneesah, Dianne, Karen, Kauthar and Nawal from Kuwait, all of us working together on this project. My friend Daaiyah Saleem in Ohio has also been very helpful, offering many suggestions for improvement and clarification as she aided in proofreading. My sister-in-law Ghada, of course, has helped along the way. In the course of preparing this book for publication, sister Zeba Siddiqui was chosen by the publisher to edit the text. I have known Zeba, a mother of four and a grandmother, and author of several excellent childrens' books as well as the THE CHILD IN ISLAM Parent's Manual: A Guide for Muslim Parents Living in North America, for several years. When I heard she had taken on this task, I asked her to add anything she felt was missing, from her years of experience and knowledge of the subject. She has supplied all of the hadith reference numbers in the text, in itself an enormous task. In addition to editing, she has filled out and amplified several topics, checking and adding material where needed. The sections on the Hereafter, tahara, respect for religion, and hospitality are prepared and written by her. It was only fair therefore that her name should appear on the title page of this book in recognition of her valuable contribution. I am deeply grateful to her for her help and input. I also need to thank my children, who suffered through my learning experience and projects for self-improvement in parenting skills, and my mother, whose life-long interest in the growth and development of children helped me understand the importance of the matter and the need for a book such as this. A final note, to the book's non-Muslim readers: I have chosen to use the word Allah throughout the book instead of the word God. The words are interchangeable in English for Muslims, but all of the women involved in this project have the habit, indeed, they have the love of referring to God, the God of Abraham, Moses, Jesus, and Muhammad, by His Arabic name, Allah.

Learn all the basic Islamic manners, in arabic and English. A great seller.

The Child in Islam

An original and timely discussion of the educational needs of Muslim children. Based on her research conducted in Muslim schools in Britain and abroad, the author provides insights into the views of practitioners, Muslim and non-Muslim, and practical suggestions to inform practice. With its glossary of terms and practical examples, this book will be a boon to teachers with little experience of Islam. Foreword by Dr. Azam Baig.

What Do We Say

This is an aid for parents to help bring up their pre-school age children in an Islamic setting. It offers advice from the Qur'an and Sunnah to the busy parent about a variety of issues from how to create a child-friendly, Islamic home environment right through to how to deal with a disruptive child.

Children of Islam

This book is used as a type of behavioral intervention to improve children's social skills through combination of visual and verbal cues. This book is designed to teach children the appropriate skills in social situations. Although most social stories are designed for the needs of specific children, I believe that any social story can be shared with other children to help them build their own children. Be aware of the concept of individual differences, especially when it comes to teaching the concept of general social etiquette. This material is designed for Muslim kids from the age of 3 up to the appropriate level of children's intellect and social competence. According to Islamic law, its focus is adaab (teaching social etiquette). It contains some appropriate proverbs from the Prophet and the Quran, which children can explain in a very simple way in Shaa Allah. This book is accompanied with visual supports that will help increase the understanding for children. It is hoped that after reading this book, Muslim parents and teachers can instill adaab practicalities in their home and in school related to the story.

The Muslim Parent's Guide to the Early Years

Our children are precious gifts given to us by Allah. He entrusts us with their care and upbringing. An essential part of our responsibility as parents is to teach our children good manners and character. Islam strongly emphasizes them as integral to the faith. Just as a Muslim child should be taught ritual acts of worship to Allah, they should also be taught good manners and etiquette at an early age until it becomes second nature. Learning manners should be taught even before learning other forms of knowledge. Every household should set aside time to build and grow their children's manners and etiquette. Our Prophet Muhammad PBUH stated: The most complete of the believers in faith is the one with the best character among them. A fun way to teach children good manners is by reading about how to obtain them. My Islam Taught Me My Good Manners children's book teaches your children twenty-three good behavior practices from the teachings of the Holy Quran and Hadith. Every page of this cute and educational book introduces a good behavioral practice with delightful, colorful illustrations that your children will understand and appreciate! This kid's book on manners includes the following good character practices: Treating others the way you want to be treated Obeying and helping parents Being kind to animals Forgiving others and not holding grudges Speaking kindly and using their indoor voice Keeping promises and not breaking them. Being patient and not losing their cool and getting angry Giving and sharing with others, especially those in need Being honest and never cheating Always being grateful to Allah and thanking Him and others and more!

Muslim Children with Funny Pictures

As parents, we must raise our children in the Islamic Faith. This requires us to introduce our children to our beloved Prophet Muhammad PBUH, the role model that Allah sent down for us to emulate and follow so that we will succeed in this world and the next. He has the best manners and character, and we should learn from him and love him. But simply loving our Prophet is not enough. We must actually live the lifestyle that our beloved Prophet teaches us. My First Book on Hadith for Kids introduces Prophet Muhammad PBUH and his teachings in an easy, fun, and educational way so our kids develop and are instilled with love for our Prophet and learn to live the way he teaches us to live. This book shares various Hadiths of our Prophet, ranging from a Hadith on good manners and remembering Allah to a Hadith on the etiquette of eating, sleeping, and hygiene. Every concept this book teaches contains colorful images to help your child understand and appreciate what they need to learn! Chapters and topics of this book include Who is Prophet Muhammad? What is the Holy Quran? What is Hadith? What is Sunnah? Sincerity& showing off Good manners and good character Being good to your parents Remembering Allah Greeting others with 'Assalamu Alaikum' Smiling to others Honoring guests Being grateful and saying thank you Being generous to others Wanting good for others Helping others Etiquette of eating Sunnah of sleeping Importance of good personal hygiene ee About The Sincere Seeker Kids Collection ee The most significant and longest-lasting inheritance you can gift your child as a parent is a proper Islamic upbringing and knowledge of Islam. As a parent, you must teach your children about Allah (God), the Holy Quran, the religion and lifestyle of Islam, and about Prophet Muhammad; peace be upon him. Every parent must instill an interest and love for Islam in their children at an early age, so they are raised with an Islamic mindset and lifestyle. Every household should set time aside each day to develop and grow their child's connection with Allah and nourish their souls. Just like our physical bodies need food and water to grow and be nourished, we need the Guidance of Allah and the recitation of the Holy Quran to enrich, nourish and give life to our souls. The Sincere Seeker Kids Collection is designed to introduce and teach your children the essentials they need to know about Allah (God), the Holy Quran, Islam, Prophet Mohammad, peace be upon him, Hadith for kids, the Five Pillars of Islam, the six articles of faith in Islam, and more in an easy, fun and educational way. The love of Allah is already instilled in our children's hearts, and it is our duty as parents to help develop, nurture and sustain that love and bond at an early age. A fun way to introduce these concepts to your children is by reading to them and encouraging them to read. Nothing beats sitting with your children and bonding with them with beneficial and interesting concepts of Islam and the Holy Quran. Every page in each book of the collection introduces a topic with delightful, colorful illustrations to help your children understand and appreciate each component of Islam. My Islam Taught Me My Good Manners

The importance of teaching Muslim children to act in accordance with Islamic manners cannot be overstated. Here's an accessible 'handbook' to determine what manners suit a particular occasion or circumstances.

My First Book on Hadith

In "Raising Muslim Children in the Western World: A Quranic Approach to Parenting," the author addresses the challenges faced by Muslim parents in raising their children in a Western environment. This book provides valuable insights on how to raise children in a way that adheres to Islamic principles and values, while also integrating into Western culture. The book is divided into six main sections. The first section, "Introduction," provides background information on the topic and outlines the purpose and benefits of the book. The second section, "The Context of Raising Muslim Children in the Western World," highlights the challenges and difficulties that Muslim parents face in a Western society and stresses the importance of a Quranic approach to parenting. The third section, "Basic Principles of Education in Islam," discusses the concept of education in Islam and emphasizes religious education as the foundation of Muslim child education. The fourth section, "The Quran as a Source of Education in Muslim Families," focuses on the importance of the Quran in child education and provides guidance on how to read, memorize, and understand Quranic teachings with children. The fifth section, "Quranic Approach to Parenting Muslim Children in the Western World," presents a comprehensive guide to raising children according to Islamic principles. It covers topics such as understanding the role of parents as educators, educating children with love and respect, balancing children's obligations and needs, and introducing the concepts of halal and haram to children. The section also emphasizes the importance of motivating children to build a connection with Allah SWT and to be independent, critical, and creative individuals. The final section, "Overcoming Challenges in Raising Muslim Children in the Western World," addresses the challenges faced by Muslim families in maintaining their Islamic identity and beliefs in a Western environment. It also provides guidance on how to maintain family togetherness and effective communication while balancing Western and Islamic lifestyle needs. Overall, "Raising Muslim Children in the Western World: A Quranic Approach to Parenting" is an invaluable resource for Muslim parents who seek to raise their children according to Islamic principles in a Western society. It provides practical advice and guidance on how to instill Islamic values in their children while navigating the challenges of the Western world.

Morals and Manners in Islam

Engaging, Colorful, and Fun Islamic book for kids This book is not like other Islamic books for children under 3! It is filled with good Islamic morals, manners, and stories that introduce your Toddler to essential Islamic Foundations. "My First Islamic Book for Children under 3" has been created in recognition of the need for books that tell the stories of Islam for small children. Most of the Islamic educational and storybooks for children available today are either lacking in authenticity or are written in a language that is difficult for young children to understand. "My First Islamic Book for Children under 3" is written in a way that toddlers and pre-school age children can easily understand. The author made these stories as authentic as possible by taking stories and information from the Quran, Tafseer Ibn Katheer, Bukhari, Muslim, and other authentic Hadith books and simplifying the language and adding context that children can understand, without changing the intended meaning. This simple language results from an interactive reading process between the author and her then three-year-old son. The author kept editing and simplifying the text until her son was able to understand it easily. About the Author Julia Hanke was born and raised in Germany. She converted to Islam at the age of 17 and took the name Hafsa to have a Muslim identity. Hafsa studied Education and Islamic Sciences at a famous German University. At the moment, she is homeschooling her three children. Well suited for Babies, Toddlers, Preschoolers, and even very beneficial for children up to 10 years of age! Teach your children who Allah is, His authentic Names and Attributes, and what they mean for every Muslim. Which morals and lessons can we draw from Allah's Names and Attributes? Which name should we use in which dua in which situation? Find out in this book. A must-read for every Muslim.

Teach Your Child Salah

Islam places great emphasis on the child, right from infancy to the age of puberty. The reason for this is to prepare him to become a good member of the community. Children learn more by example than by words. Telling our children what to do and not showing them by a good example is a hypocritical act and drives children to confusion and away from us. It is for this reason we are presenting this booklet as a guideline for those parents who are concerned about their present and future offspring

How To Pray In Islam Step By Step Islamic Book For Kids

The Islamic tradition is rich with values that parents strive to imbue in their children: respect, responsibility, integrity, love and more. Parenting is all too often filled with sleepless nights, tears, and anxiety followed by endless doubts: "Did I do my best?" "What could I have done differently?" "Am I responsible?" Positive Discipline, a philosophy conceptualized by Dr. Jane Nelsen, provides a powerful model for channeling parenting struggles into proven methods that yield results. Positive Parenting in the Muslim Home addresses real challenges faced by real families. This comprehensive book is essential for parents, caregivers, and educators seeking to nurture a grounded parent-child relationship built on connection. It is a book of home. It invites the reader to: - Approach parenting in Islam as a process of love and guidance - Apply Positive Discipline tools to nurture Islamic values in matters of faith, relationships, and everyday life - Empower children to be responsible, capable and proactive individuals - Address sensitive issues constructively, including sex, drugs, bullying, and youth radicalization - Resolve conflicts by focusing on solutions rather than punishments Authors Noha Alshugairi and Munira Lekovic Ezzeldine share timeless principles, describe 49 effective parenting tools, and guide through various parenting challenges. Their experience spans all stages of development from birth to adulthood. The authors masterfully transform theoretical Islamic principles into living realities.

Guidelines For Raising Children

Role of Muslim parents in educating children on sexual matters Muslim parents must realize that children must be guided in sexual matters in a more comprehensive manner based on the Islamic perspective so that they will be in the Islamic path pertaining to sexuality. Nowadays children are surrounded by materials that lure them to involve in sexual activity from young. If parents fail to perform this task it is likely the children will resort to other sources for sexual information that can mislead them from the Islamic path which then may harm the children and the society. It is therefore crucial for Muslim parents to be proactive and open in discussing appropriate sexual matters with their children. Resorting to regard sex as taboo is not a wise choice for parents because children crucially need appropriate guidance in dealing with the existing numerous bad influences on sex. Islam has provided the information and guidelines in sexual matters that parents may use and apply suitably to their children's needs. First fact about sexuality in Islam that parents should observe is sex is part of human life; it is not an unusual matter that parents should avoid communicating it appropriately to their children. For that matter parents should convey this message clearly to their adolescent children that sex is not a thing to be ashamed of or to be treated lightly; but it is also not to be indulged excessively and that is why we need Divine rules to regulate sexuality. In Islam, educating children in sexual matters begins years before the age of puberty since when a child reaches puberty, he or she is by then accountable on their deeds and sayings. Hence, Islam does not prohibit sexual fulfilment, it only regulates human's sexual behaviour in order to protect one's dignity and morality which Islam regards as vital for the healthy spiritual development of the person as well as for the well-being of the whole community. Guidance on sexual matters is a duty that Muslim parents need to undertake effectively in order to tackle the problem of unregulated sexual practices especially among young adolescents. Today's Muslim parents must be conscious on the negative influences that the present "borderless world" can bring to their children's lives particularly with regard to sexuality. The major influence comes from the internet culture that propagates a liberal lifestyle compared to a more conservative lifestyle of the Muslims' culture which is visibly appealing to many of the Muslim adolescents. Islam provides guidelines on sexuality because human has the tendency to indulge in excessive sexual gratification by following their desires blindly as mentioned in the aforementioned Quranic verses. Muslim parents need to guide their children to be "a master of own desires, not a slave to lusts" in order to protect one's dignity and morality which Islam regards as vital for the healthy spiritual development of the person and the community.

Positive Parenting in the Muslim Home

Morals and Manners in Islam is a brief yet comprehensive handbook for Muslims and those non-Muslims interested in acquiring a broad knowledge of the Muslim way of life. The World of Islam in Literature for Youth will aid librarians, parents, students, teachers, school media specialists, and other readers who are interested in identifying helpful resources on the topic of Islam and the Muslim culture. Divided into 16 chapters that reflect the different aspects of Islam and the Muslim culture, this annotated bibliography covers more than 700 books, instructional materials, videos, DVDs, audio tapes, and online resources, each with a complete bibliographical description—title, author's name, place of publication, publisher, year, number of pages, and ISBN (both for hard copy and paper, if available)—and recommended grade levels. Digital electronic resources, in addition to the above bibliographic description, also include length of running time, producer, and whether in black & white or color. The authors wrote this book with the goal of making available reliable information about this often-misunderstood religious tradition. Many of the resources emphasized are not typically featured in existing bibliographies, databases, and libraries. Author, title, grade, subject, and illustrator & photographer indexes are included. This valuable reference tool provides educators with a means to easily identify resources for use in promoting the understanding of Islam.

Parents' Manual

I believe that parenting is a serious job which must be undertaken consciously; clearly understanding what it entails. Children have a right to have good parents who can be role models for them and who can not only teach them the tools to succeed in this life, but also to take from the treasures of Allah and succeed in the life to come. Whether you like it or not, you are your child's role model. Your choice is to decide what kind of role model you want to be - one that they can look up to or one that they have to look down on. Children listen with their eyes. They don't care what you say until they see what you do. Today, young Muslim parents are anxious to ensure that their children are brought up as practicing Muslims and are a credit to themselves and their parents. This little book is a consolidation of all the things that I have said to people in answer to their questions.

The World of Little Muslims

This book brings the voices of Muslim mothers into the discourse on parent-school relations. Over 50 women from a wide range of backgrounds and social class speak about their identities, experiences and challenges as they choose state schools and support their children through their education in Britain. Essential reading for teachers.

For Parents . How To Use This Book All praise is for ALLAH and may the peace and prayers descend on the PROPHET Muhammad [pbuh], his friends, family and all those who follow him until the end of times .We ask ALLAH to keep us on guidance and to preserve and protect our good intentions in whatever deeds we do. He is the changer of Hearts so we ask him to keep our Hearts firmly and softly on Islam Thank you for reading our book and sharing with your children We hope you, your children and families can benefit as well as those who are impacted directly by the actions cultivated in this book . The concepts is a simple one. Each page looks at one basic value in Islam . The large print is for the child to read , initially guided by the parent, carer, sibling or teacher [aka. The Guide]. The small print is included for the the guide to help begin stimulate conversation with the young person . The pictures again will be attractive to the young person , but do use them as points for conversation . An example would be the final page where we are learning to praise ALLAH after we complete something. Look through the pictures and discuss with the child. After eating, drinking sleeping etc. We know from our history and from recent writing that creation of culture can be both positive or negative. This book is an effort to create a positive and pure Islamic culture. Influence from our own geographical culture must play second fiddle to these. Culture is created by two elements. Values and Behaviour. This book clearly describes 26 values we have in Islam. If the child reads this book often , auto suggestion will , by Allahs permission make them stick. However they will only truly become part of the Childs life if their behaviours in daily life match. This is the role and responsibility of the guide. This can be hard but extremely pleasurable work. Watching a child develop a sense of Islamic values from a young age is good for them, good for you and good for our society. We pray for ALLAH's guidance always and the ability to follow our beloved Prophet in all our affairs FEEDBACK AND SUGGESTIONS ARE ALWAYS WELCOME Abdus SAMAD bin Abdur RAHMAN AND FAMILY DEDICATED TO OUR PARENTS AND OUR CHILDREN. Social Sciences in Islamic Perspectives

A MUST READ for any educator of Muslim students. This book puts to text a training program that was designed for public school educators and became very popular in different states. Teachers are told so much about the importance of knowing the home culture of students, and practicing culturally-relevant pedagogy. But rarely do teachers feel that they are actually given an inside view into the home culture of their students and directly how it relates to teaching them and the way they show up in school. This book is a unique journey where Islam, Muslim culture, the history of Muslims in America, and the learning structures in mosques that Muslim children are acculturated to are all taught in a prose that is specifically written for the public school educator with the goal of not only offering new and practical insights, but also ideas and consideration for practice that would take culturally-relevant pedagogy of Muslim students out of the nominal and superficial and into the authentic.

"Teach Your Children the Gems of Hadith" is a beautifully illustrated book that brings together three heartwarming stories for young Muslim children. The first story is about a king who struggles with anger management and how he learns to control his emotions to create a peaceful empire. The second story is about Arisa, a little girl who learns the value of helping others, showing how even the smallest act of kindness can make a big difference. The third story features two sisters, Maha and Fatima, and how Fatima's calm and composed personality helps her win the hearts of those around her. Through engaging and immersive storytelling, each Hadith is carefully handpicked to apply to young Muslim children aged between 5 - 10 years old, making it easier for parents and teachers to impart the wisdom of Prophet Mohammad (S.A.W) to the next generation. This book provides an excellent solution for busy parents and educators who want to teach everyday moral lessons to young readers in a way that resonates with them. The thoroughness and quality of the stories are designed to captivate young minds and leave a lasting impression. Islamic Manners for Children

Our children are growing up in a hypersexualized world. It is a subject that most Muslim parents find difficult and awkward to discuss with their children. This book will lessen that discomfort and build your confidence to tackle this sensitive subject. Firoza Osman outlines how an Islamic foundation when talking to your children about sexual matters from preschool (proper vocabulary, boundaries) to adolescence can help shape a healthy Islamic identity and view of sexuality. How to Talk to Your Muslim Child about Sex offers practical suggestions to address building an Islamic understanding of sex and sexuality- Chapter 1 concerns the challenges of raising children in a digital age. The challenges addressed are peer orientation, cultural norms, sex-obsessed culture, gender-specific issues, pornography, dangers of social media, school environment and muslim-specific challenges Chapter 2 covers building communication and connection with your children so they come to you for information. How to build a connection with Allah, the self and the family are outlined. It addresses building a connection with Allah through love over fear so they wish to please Him. Connection with self is about building your child's self-esteem so they can confidently hang on to their faith and resist peer pressure. Connection with the family is where values, morality and beliefs are built. Chapter 3 covers how and when to talk about sex with your children. It covers how and when to explain puberty, physical intimacy, dating and healthy relationships, consent, gender issues, pornography with conversation starters for all topics. There are over 70 references included and a list of useful resources around parenting and sex education. Firoza Osman has over 20 years of teaching experience with youth and adolescents, working as a Further Education lecturer in the UK, Educational Assistant with a public school board and Afterschool Program Manager for a Canadian Islamic non-profit organization delivering workshops to Muslim youth on Healthy Relationships. She has two adult sons in the UK and resides with her husband in Edmonton, Canada.
