The semester courses in the Lifepac Select series have been compiled by schools using Alpha Omega's Lifepac curriculum. The unique design of the worktext format has allowed instructors to mix and match Lifepacs from four core subjects (Bible, Language Arts, History & Geography, and Science) to create alternative semester courses for junior high and high school students. These courses work particularly well as unit studies, as supplementary electives, or for meeting various school and state requirements. Another benefit of these courses is the ability to use them with any curriculum, at any time during the year, for any of several purposes!

Fundamentals of World Regional Geography

Filled with the rich diversity of human life, yet exceptionally concise, World Regional Geography Concepts humanizes geographic issues by representing the daily lives of women, men, and children in the various regions of the globe. As in their more comprehensive text, World Regional Geography, Lydia and Alex Pulsipher make global patterns of trade and consumption meaningful for students by showing how these patterns affect environments and people at the local level. And at around 450 pages, it remains the ideal length for covering all of the world's regions in one semester.

World Geography Today

This course takes a cross-cultural approach to the study of world cultures & geography and world literature. We will go beyond our perspective (etic-world view) to that of the people whose world and culture we will observe (emic-world view). We will discuss the social behavior and norms of each country/region in the world, while considering their great literary works. We will study poems, plays, and/or novels with the assumption that these works represent valid ways in which to interpret culture. The material presented in this course offers many opportunities to explore different cultural assumptions and means of expression through study of culture and literature. Structure, style and themes as well as figurative language, imagery, symbolism and tone will be stressed. Texts are drawn from multiple genres and periods
