CHRISTIAN CONCEPTS Sunday School Lesson, ...

Among several points, this verse provides a clue regarding the 'new Heavens and the new Earth.' We take notice of Isaiah's reference to infant mortality and our life-span.

Today's text promises that those returning from exile will be able to regain stable, productive lives. Vineyards once a staple in ancient Israelite economies would provide a good diet and sustenance. There is the continuing theme of reversal presented here. The narratives in Genesis 15 and Deuteronomy 6 tell us the original inhabitants forfeited their residence due to sin. Isaiah prophesizes these exiles will be able to return to home ownership and their life will flourish like established trees.

This verse ties together the previous three summarizing the people's new condition since the loss of sons and daughters were presumed as tragic devastating anguish resulting from their exile.

See, I will create new heavens and a new earth. The former things will not be remembered, nor will they come to mind.

But be glad and rejoice forever in what I will create, for I will create Jerusalem to be a delight and its people a joy

They will build houses and dwell in them; they will plant vineyards and eat their fruit.

No longer will they build houses and others live in them, or plant and others eat. For as the days of a tree, so will be the days of my people; my chosen ones will long enjoy the work of their hands.

They will not labor in vain, nor will they bear children doomed to misfortune, for they will be a people blessed by the LORD, they and their descendants with

Before they call I will answer, while they are still speaking I will hear.

The wolf and the lamb will feed together, and the lion will eat straw like the ox, and dust will be the serpent's food. They will neither harm nor destroy on all my holy mountain, says the LORD.
