Li Yang acknowledges the darkness in China but expresses the experience of God's victory amid that darkness.

Li Yang shares that he became a believer 10 years ago during a business trip, and his entire family came to Christ afterward.

Li Yang explains the challenges of sharing the Gospel in China, where the government treats those spreading the Gospel as criminals, aiming to control the number of Christians.

Li Yang recounts the recent persecution of a friend who was taken by the Chinese police, questioned, and severely beaten for spreading the Gospel.

Due to restrictions on public meetings, Li Yang describes how their ministry takes place in the buildings where they live, with believers gathering in homes in the evenings.

Li Yang highlights the lack of awareness about Christ among people on the streets and the challenges of ministering in a context where no one in their families is a believer.

Despite the fearful darkness, Li Yang expresses his confidence that God will overcome, and he is determined to share the Gospel despite the risks.

Li Yang describes his approach to ministry, visiting neighbors, listening, sharing in their lives, and telling the story of Jesus Christ when he gets the chance.

Li Yang shares the discovery of another home church meeting in the same building, which humbled them and highlighted God's work in their midst.

Li Yang emphasizes that despite the darkness and persecution, the Holy Spirit is moving in China, preparing the hearts of people.

Li Yang expresses his commitment to sharing the love of Jesus Christ every day, even if it means going to prison, confident that no one can have victory over God.
